MIAMI, Fla.—(INS)—J. Edgar Hoover, G-man chieftain, today announced that Franklin Pierce McCall, 21-year-old Floridan had confessed both the kidnaping and slaying of Jimmy Cash, jr.

(By United Press)

MIAMI, Fla. — Federal agents suddenly revised their plans to transfer Franklin Pierce McCall to the sky-scraper Miami jail, indicating that the minister's son may be subjected to new grilling today in the drive to learn the details of the kidnaping of Jimmy Cash.

McCall, 21-year-old farm hand who confessed writing ransom notes but denied kidnaping and murdering the five-year-old boy, was held in offices of the federal bureau of investigation on the 13th floor of an office building.

Silent on Plans.

The G-Men, gradually withdrawing the 62 agents who "broke" the case, refused to comment on revision of their plans to transfer McCall early today to the Dade county jail on the 19th floor of the county building here.

It was understood, however, that McCall would undergo new questioning, such as has continued almost without interruption since he was arrested on June 1.

McCall confessed, according to J. Edgar Hoover, head of the FBI, that he had written the three ransom notes to J. B. Cash, the murdered boy's father, that he had collected the $10,000 ransom and that he had hidden it where G-Men found it, near the body in a Mangrove swamp early yesterday.

However, in groups of two and three, G-Men were drifting out of Miami with suitcases, evidently leaving the city. There had

PWA SPEEDS UP

Inspectors to See That Jobs Won't Fall Behind.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Public Works administration decided today to assign federal inspectors to speed up all projects under the new $1,365,000,000 PWA program.

"PWA is on trial," said Acting Administrator Howard Gray "and we have adopted this innovation to put over the heaviest schedule of non-federal projects in the shortest time ever allotted for public works program."

The inspectors, Gray said, will be chosen from experienced PWA engineers and each will be given from 10 to 30 projects. They will make sure that applicants (usually municipalities) do not delay in financing 55 per cent of the construction cost, in meeting specifications, and in letting contracts.

Records revealed that the next highest number of names ever on nominating petitions was in 1934 when a candidate filed 136,000.

PIANO PROTEGE GOING TO PARIS

Famed Instructor Becomes Fairy Godmother of Mansfield Co-ed.

Jean Seybold, 19, Mansfield piano student, is a Cinderella without a prince or glass slipper—but with a Fairy Godmother that is worth a half dozen princes.

As a result of the "Godmother's" interest, the Mansfield girl will go to the American Conservatory of Music at Fontainebleau, near Paris, this summer as the protege of Nadia Boulanger, instructor at the conservatory and one of the greatest composition teachers of the generation. She will go on a scholarship given to her by Mlle. Boulanger at Columbus recently.

Miss Seybold, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Seybold, South Main street, is a sophomore at the school of music at Ohio State university.

Served As Accompanist.

Recently Mlle. Boulanger, who came to America to lecture for a term at Radcliff college and who was the first woman to lead the Boston Symphony orchestra, came to Columbus to lecture and to conduct a choral concert. The Mansfield girl had been chosen to serve as accompanist for the chorus.

And then, just as it might have happened in a fairy story, the youthful student met her Fairy Godmother, one of the most distinguished figures in the world of music today and the latter was deeply impressed with the ability of the 19-year-old student, as an accompanist.

She decided that Jean should study at Fontainebleau conservatory and there were to be no "ifs" about it.

The head of the school called Jean's parents and her Mansfield instructor, Marie Marks Porterfield, for a conference with Mlle. Boulanger. The French woman not only gave Jean a free scholarship for the summer but offered her the hospitality of her home while in France.

Jean will return to Ohio State in the fall. She will leave Mansfield in a few days for New York City where she will sail for France and her big opportunity.

Her sister, Miss Louise Seybold, teacher in the Troy public schools, will accompany her to Europe.

LEARN LESSON TREES TEACH, SENIORS TOLD

Only Those With Deep Roots Weather Storms, Capital University Head Says.

SKY ROOF FOR CEREMONY

Presentation of Diplomas to Record Class of 287 Takes Half Hour.

"The world depends on trees that grow straight just as it depends on men who follow the same course," 287 seniors, the largest graduating class in the history of Mansfield High school were told last night in the school's first outdoor commencement exercises held in Stadium field.

The speaker was Dr. Otto Mees, president of Capital university at Columbus. He based his commencement address on Joyce Kilmer's immortal poem, "Trees." Prior to his talk, the song "Trees" was sung by Paul Davis, a member of the 1938 class.

2,000 Attend Exercises.

Two thousand parents, relatives and friends of the graduates attended the exercises which just finished when a light shower sent them scurrying across the field for shelter. The program, which started at 6 p. m., was brought to a close as darkness enveloped the field some two hours later.

Names of members of the 1938 graduating class will be found on page 11 of today's News-Journal.

Dr. Mees drew apt comparisons from the majestic shade trees surrounding the field to urge the graduates to "throw down roots that take hold of something fine and grow straight."

"There is much in common between men and trees, and all of us can learn from the lessons taught by trees and wildflowers," the Columbus educator said.

Offers Comparison.

"It is the straight tree that produces the best lumber for building ships and homes and erecting poles for transportation lines, and it is the man who has established a firm foundation and then grows

OPENS INQUIRY

U. S. Starts Probe in Death of Army Officer's Wife.

FORT BENNING, Ga.—(INS)—With Major John R. Brooke held under guard in the post hospital, federal and military authorities today launched an intensive investigation of the mysterious death of the wife of the 45-year-old army officer.

Mrs. Brooke, prominent in this army post, was found dead at the foot of the stairs in the Brooke home about noon Wednesday.

At first, death was believed due to a fall, but subsequent investigation, established that she had died from blows on the head. Blood was found in a bathroom and in a hallway upstairs.

Major Brooke was reported today to be suffering from shock, and although reporters were not permitted to talk to him his friends quoted him as saying he knew nothing of how his wife had received the fatal injuries.

'Tag Day' Tomorrow to Climax Fund Effort to Make Up Deficit

"Nor wind nor storm, nor sleet nor rain, shall stay the pilot in his flight."

And what a slogan for the air mail pilots is sauce for the women who will work on the Community Fund "Tag Day" tomorrow.

Nor wind nor storm, nor sleet nor rain, nor ice nor freezing temperatures will keep them off the street. The ice, some of the workers suspect, will be the reception they'll get from "meanies."

Tag Day is one last, determined effort to increase the Community Fund which faces a budget deficit of approximately $6,000. More than 50 women who are interested in community work will take to the streets tomorrow and offer a "I'll Give Again" tag to any person who will contribute again to the Community Fund. Any amount of money will be accepted from a dime to a dollar or more. It is hoped in this manner to reach many persons who did not contribute in the general campaign because they couldn't afford to give as much as a dollar.

Workers will meet at 8:45 a. m. at the Y.M.C.A. office, and will make their reports there during the day. They will go onto the streets at 9.

Yesterday the workers in downtown offices and banks brought in an additional $138, bringing the total for the emergency drive up to $844.

These Are Busy Days For Bud and Sis—Fair Nears

Rural Youngsters Get Their Most Prized Possessions, Livestock Pets, Ready for Annual Exhibits.

School out and a long summer vacation ahead, Richland county farm boys, and girls as well, are busy these days helping Dad with the farm chores and Mother with her household work.

There's one thing though, which, between sun up and sun down, flashes into the mind of nearly every kiddie on the farm—the county fair—and, this year, the time has already arrived to begin thinking about such things.

For instance, take Donnie, 13, and Marilyn, 6, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tugend, four miles northeast of Butler.

Raises Prize Calves.

Donnie has a pair of Shorthorn calves that not only are one of his most prized possessions but any visitor who knows his livestock generally tell him, "you've got something there, boy."

And for Marilyn, she is raising a pet lamb by way of the bottle and the nipple.

These two youngsters are like scores of others in Richland county who are getting their fair exhibits in shape for the livestock halls, poultry displays, 4-H club exhibits, and other farm competition in the hopes of winning a ribbon or cash premium.

Every day it's the same for Donnie and Marilyn so far as their prized animals are concerned. A pail of milk for each calf and a good sized bottle of milk for the lambie are brought around at meal time. This will last until the live-

'Birth of a Baby' To Open June 19 In Madison Here

The much-discussed picture "The Birth of a Baby", which presents through the medium of motion pictures the story of maternity with actual birth scenes, will be shown in Mansfield next week, the engagement starting June 19 at the Madison theater.

A private preview of the picture to an invited audience will be given at midnight tonight at that theater.

The production was made by Jack Skirball, head of Educational Features and brother of William Skirball, one of the lessors of the Madison theater. It was filmed under the auspices of the American Committee on Maternal Welfare, Inc., and has been approved by the American Medical Association.

The picture first came into headline publicity when the New York Board of Motion Picture Censors banned it, and was further publicized when pictures from it were published in a national picture magazine. Approved by the Ohio Board of Cenors, the picture has been shown in Cleveland and is now playing in Columbus. A number of churches and organizations have protested public showing of the picture.

The picture is a full length feature, running an hour and ten minutes.

Fate Plays Trick On Man Scared of Death

CLEARWATER, Fla.—(AP)—"What would you do if you had 48 hours to live?" That was the question at a friendly discussion and this was Bobby Williams' answer: "I'd be too scared to do anything." Less than a half hour later, Williams was dead, the victim of an automobile accident.

OUT OF JAIL

Meechy and Son Free on Bond in Shooting Case.

BUCYRUS—It was the "wide open spaces" again today for "Montana" Meechy, Columbus cowboy band leader, and his son, Ben, 20, but Meechy's five bandsmen were not with him.

In jail here on charges of shooting with intent to kill, Meechy obtained bonds of $1,000 each for his son and himself yesterday, and both were released pending action of the county grand jury.

Other members of the band, held on the same charges under $500 bond, were expected to furnish bond today.

Meechy and his son were freed on property bonds supplied by John Murphy and C. J. Murphy, brothers, of near Bucyrus.

All seven were arrested at Columbus Monday on charges of Kensel McClenathan, 22, Galion, who charged that the bandsmen hit him and shot at him a week ago at the Sugar Grove lake dance hall near Bucyrus.

POSE AS FUND 'SOLICITORS'

Unauthorized Persons Obtaining Money in City, Palmer Says.

Sidney L. Palmer, secretary of the Mansfield Community Fund, said today he had learned that unauthorized persons were making calls at Mansfield homes representing themselves as Fund solicitors, and that they had obtained money in a few instances. In one case, Palmer said, the "solicitor" not only obtained a contribution but stole change intended for a newspaper boy and the milkman.

All Fund solicitors wear badges and can identify themselves as being affiliated with the Community Fund, Palmer said, warning Mansfielders to be on guard against unauthorized "solicitors."

ASKS $462,000 FOR '39 BUDGET

Council Committee Draft Calls for $50,000 More Than Was Appropriated for 1938.

A tentative city budget for 1939 asking for $331,207 for general operating expenses today had been drafted by council's finance committee.

The draft which seeks approximately $6,000 less than was sought last year, and approximately $50,000 more than was appropriated, will go to council with the committee's recommendation as soon as the sinking fund trustees tack on the amount needed for retirement and interest charges on general bonds.

City Auditor Paul L. Kelley said a reduced figure of approximately $131,000 needed for this purpose would set the budget at approximately $462,207, or $50,000 more than was appropriated last year.

Marked increases over the 1938 appropriations were shown in four city departments, while some others revealed slight increases.

The largest increase was sought by the police department with estimated needs for 1939 set at $69,220, an increase of nearly $8,000 over the $61,270 last year. The increase provides for five additional patrolmen.

The finance committee, anticipating increased relief costs in 1939 at last night's meeting, boosted the figure for hospitalization of indigent patients to $17,000, an increase of $3,000. They also set the estimate on physicians' services to indigent patients at the hospital at $5,000.

At the same time the parks department which had submitted a request for $7,600 as against an appropriation of $11,200 last year, was raised to $13,000, an increase of nearly $2,000.

Estimated needs submitted at $64,805 for the fire department calls for new equipment and a new fire station.

PLANE CRASHES ON FARM DURING ILLINOIS STORM

Ship, Struck By Lightning, Bursts Into Flames While Preparing For Forced Landing; Farm Woman Sees Fire Blaze Across Sky After Blast.

(By International News Service)

DELAVAN, Ill.—Eight or nine army fliers were instantly killed today when a large U. S. Army bomber crashed in flames during an electrical storm on the farm of Miss Ella Youle, near here.

It was believed the plane was struck by lightning while the pilots were preparing to make a forced landing.

Bodies of the victims were brought to the Houghton morgue here where it was announced that it had been definitely established that the ill-fated ship was an army bomber. The ship was a Martin bomber, of the B-10 type, returning to Denver after an overnight stop at Chanute Field, Rantoul, Ill.

The plane crashed in a hayfield about a half mile from the Youle farmhouse. Miss Youle said it made "a great blaze across the sky" before it hit earth and then plowed a hole as big as an automobile in the ground as it struck.

Bits of the plane were scattered for yards around and some of the bodies were thrown clear of the wreckage. All of the bodies, according to morgue attendants here, were garbed in regulation army flying uniforms.

Put Bodies In Wagon.

The bodies had to be removed in a horse and wagon since the hayfield was too muddy to permit a motor ambulance to drive across it.

Lieut. A. J. Henderson, adjutant at Chanute field, said the plane had been flown there from Denver yesterday, and made an overnight stop. It hopped off this morning for Chanute field.

The army official said he believed there were nine men aboard, but the morgue here said it did not know whether eight or nine bodies had been recovered.

The flight from Denver to Chanute field and the tragic return trip was described as a "routine training flight."

Undertaker Henry Houghton, owner of the morgue here, said "eight or nine bodies, badly mangled" had been recovered.

He said there was no identification of the victims by army officials as yet.

Farmers who rushed to the scene said the ship had been so badly wrecked that it was impossible to identify it from the charred, twisted mass of metal left after the flames had subsided.

Miss Youle said from sounds made by the airplane motor, she believed it had circled the field several times in low hanging

HUNT TEACHER

Michigan Police Told Missing Woman Had Answered Ad.

ADRIAN, Mich.—(AP)—The federal bureau of investigation and Michigan state police directed today a search for Miss Lucille Wilson, 22, pretty rural school teacher who left her farm home Tuesday evening with a man who had advertised for a young woman to look after a four-year-old child on a trip to California.

State Trooper Robert Riddering said 92 responses were made to the advertisement and that one young woman had complained of unwelcome advances made by the man when he interviewed her Monday.

Miss Wilson's mother said her daughter promised to write in "two or three days" but no word had been received.

Miss Wilson was described as an attractive brunet.

3 CONTESTS ON EACH TICKET

Shelby Man Files on Last Day to Oppose Lutz in State Representative Race.

Six contests, divided evenly between Democrats and Republicans, were in prospect for the August primary in Richland county today for county and district offices with the filing deadline only a few hours away. Petitions will be received until 6:30 p. m. today, election officials said.

Filing at the last minute to oppose Ralph C. Lutz, Lexington Democrat and incumbent representative to the general assembly, David W. Cook, Shelby, produced the second contest for the nomination for a county office. Republicans have a contest for the same post.

Approximately 150 petitions had been filed before noon with the board of elections, and the Republicans needed only eight candidates for a full slate for the 95 county and district offices to be filled in August and November. Democrats lacked more than 20 county central committee nominess, but had a candidate to offer for all the major county and district offices.

Republicans still had no one to file for county auditor to oppose Norman L. Wolfe, Democratic incumbent, and party leaders said it was doubtful if they would produce an aspirant for that office.

Wolfe, who is not expected to have any primary opposition in his own party, filed two days ago for re-nomination.

Pastor Likens Grad's Path to That of Ship in Turbulent Sea

Know where you came from, where you are sailing and where you are bound for, and be not without your Captain, the Rev. William J. Killoran, pastor of the St. Patrick's Catholic church of Galion, advised 38 members of the graduating class of St. Peter's high school at their commencement exercises last night at the church.

Likening their pathways of life in a troubled world to that of a ship on a turbulent sea, Rev. Killoran said: "You are entering a world of vast competition, one of numerous complexities, so be not without your captain—God—and your chart and compass—your faith—to guide you from the reefs and rocks of destruction.

"Take your place on the side of God and be faithful and conscientious in your duty to him and you will not flounder on the dangerous shoals of life."

Rev. Killoran urged the graduates to continue their studies.

"But whether or not you go on to a higher education or whether your education ceases, you can all be a success provided you follow the principles and ideals that have been laid down to you by your instructors," he said.

"You will find the world before you complex, but you will find a

CHAPTER XXV

"Good enough." He dropped to a seat at her side.

"Any luck, Griff? I've been keeping my fingers crossed."

"At ease," he ordered dryly. "The mill at Edgeton isn't taking anybody on. All they took was my name . . . said they would let me know if they could use me later. I guess you've heard that line in your travels haven't you?"

"It does have a familiar ring," she admitted

"So that's that," Griff continued. "But I did run into something rather funny after we got back, Larry. Don't know quite what to make of it."

"What was that?"

"Why, we stopped in at the delicatessen for a sandwich and beer after we hit town. I noticed old Schloss making kind of funny signs to me from the back of the room, so I loafed over that way to see what he had on his mind."

"He's a funny old man, isn't he?"

"I'm beginning to suspect it. Anyway, he did a lot of hemming and hawing trying to make me understand in a nice way that, one of his customers told him I was on the loose. I supposed everybody knew it by now. The upshot was that he had been going to send for me to come and see him. It's his kidneys, or something . . . anyway, he's got a weak back and can't lift anything. He was thinking of getting some kid with a weak head and a strong back to come in and help around the place. He wanted to know if I'd be interested . . . acted like it was an insult to ask me, but pulled a line about knowing our family for a long time and that we'd always been good to him. You know."

"That was nice of him. But it does sound queer, Griff," Larry decided in puzzled tones. "I went in there one of the first places I tried, looking for a job. The old man gave me a sob story about not making enough to pay his rent, even."

"Yeah? Well, he told me about the same thing. The best he could do was ten bucks. Afternoons and nights, he figured. And I could eat all I wanted. That's something."

"That's a lot in your case," his sister reminded him. 'Oh, I'd take that if I were you, Griff. It will tide you over until you can get something else maybe."

"Is thy servant a dog?" Griff inquired with a grim laugh. "Sure I took it . . . jumped at it. I'm not crazy about wearing a monkey jacket and being guyed when I try to deal 'em off the arm to fellows I know. But I'm not going to sponge on Mums or Muriel, either."

"I know exactly how you feel," Larry told him warmly. 'I only wish I could be as lucky. It's this sitting around doing nothing that gets me. It doesn't seem to me that I can stand it much longer."

Griff rose and stretched.

'Well, if you get reduced to the bread line, hang around my place and I'll try to slip you a day-old loaf. But if I had your shape and what-it-takes, I'd get married."

'Says you."

'Says Wilbur. He's all but asked my consent."

If Clayton merited the appellation of "glum" awarded him by Olive Case, it was due to the dogged determination with which he applied himself to his work at the Norwood Mills. Old Romulus noted it with silent satisfaction and let him rather completely alone, not even discussing business when the two met outside the office. Their principal contact was at the evening dinner table where the meal was eaten to the accompaniment of scant conversation.

To make matters worse, he had formed the habit of returning to the office very frequently after dinner. His reason was twofold.

The minor reason was a smoldering resentment against Romulus, the feeling that he had been tricked into an existence that was far from happy. He tried to be perfectly civil to his relative, but he could not shake a certain feeling of irritation when in his company. The major motive for his ceaseless activities was a constant endeavor to forget. It wasn't successful, but it helped. He often wondered in a dull fashion if he always was going to be like that ....about Larry Layne. Little to hope for, God knew, but impossible to ease that longing for a sight of her.

And always the sting of remorse that he had been the instrument through which she had suffered injustice. Helpless to aid her. As helpless to aid her brother, upon whom Romulus had vented his spleen for apparently no reason save that the boy was a Layne. Clay had racked his brain for some means to be of service to Griff since he could do nothing for Larry. But every scheme was balked by a realization that he could think of no intermediary in Norwood through whom he could work, and the matter of a direct approach to the Laynes was more than impossible now.

Then there had come an inspiration one afternoon when he was having a late and solitary lunch at the hands of Mr. Schloss. Clay had conceived a great liking for the old gentleman, as well as for "Mama" whose acquaintance he had cultivated. Making sure that there was no eavesdroppers at hand, he asked for a conference with the two elderly friends at his table.

"I have made up my mind to ask a great favor of you good people," he began abruptly. "I think it's because you are so.... human. And I want some help."

"What did you think we was, if we ain't humans?" Mr. Schloss wanted to know. "Sure we will help you, if we can."

"Well, the first thing is a request that it be strictly confidential."

Schloss and Mama nodded silently.

"Thank you both," Clay began abruptly. "Mr. Schloss, you told me some time ago that Miss Hilary Layne asked you for a job here and you had none to offer. I don't know whether you may have heard that her younger brother is also unemployed."

"We were hearing so," Schloss nodded. "A shame."

"Very unfortunate." Clay hesitated again. "I shall ask you to believe that I did not know either one of them had left Mr. Wardlaw's employ...until after it happened. Also, I wish you to believe that there was nothing I could do to have—either of them reinstated. I have felt very badly about it because they....the Layne family are good friends of mine."

"Now it gets clear," Mama broke in unexpectedly. "Like you. I think that little Larry is a sweet child. We have known her since she isn't so high as this table."

Clay reddened a trifle, then resumed.

"I realize that it is a very serious thing for any family to be deprived of two of its wage earners almost at the same time. Especially when there is little chance of finding other employment. And I also hate to see a capable chap like Griffith Layne at loose ends. It's not good for a boy who's been accustomed to steady work. So I was wondering whether you might not be able to find him a job....in here."

"A job, Mr. Odell!" The older man stared. "And how could I be giving him a job? After I turned his sister down first? It is keeping Mama and me busy to live and not be dipping into the not very much we have saved. No, no. I'm sorry."

Clay paused to light a cigaret.

"But, Mr. Schloss, aren't you forgetting the rheumatism, or whatever it is that makes it hard for you to get about lately? It seems to me that a strong, active boy could save you many steps; do all the heavy lifting....especially if you could get him for, say about ten dollars a week. I mean....I mean that I would pay you the ten dollars. Just until the boy can find something."

"Ah! Now it begins to give some understanding." Schloss frowned in perplexity. "I don't know what I should be saying to that, Mr. Odell, I assure you I don't. It is a kind trick to play, but...Mama! What do you say to such a thing?"

"I say you should do it, Papa. After all, your back isn't so good. If Mr. Odell wants to be so kind to the boy and his little sister, who are we not to help?"

"It might be so." Schloss still looked worried. "Supposing he don't want the job here, Mr. Odell?"

SUMMER SNOWBALLS
½ cup Spry; ½ teaspoon salt; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 1 cup sugar; 1 whole egg and 2 yolks well beaten; 3 ounces chocolate, melted; 1 teaspoon baking powder; 1½ cups sifted flour; ¾ cup milk
Combine Spry, salt and vanilla. Add sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. Dump in a puffy swirl smooth, creamy Spry. Add beaten eggs gradually, blending well. Notice how extra fluffy your batter is. No wonder you get marvelously light tender cup cakes with a whipped cream" batter like this! Add melted chocolate and blend well.
Add baking powder and soda to flour and sift 3 times. Add small amounts of flour to creamed mixture, alternately with milk, mixing after each addition until smooth. Pour batter into cup-cake pans greased with Spry. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) 20 to 25 minutes.
Frost tops and sides with Marshmallow Frosting and sprinkle all over with shredded coconut. Makes 24 cakes.
MARSHMALLOW FROSTING
2 egg whites, unbeaten; 1½ cups sugar; 2 tablespoons cold water; 1 teaspoon light corn syrup; 20 marshmallows cut in quarters; 1 teaspoon vanilla
Put egg whites, sugar, water and corn syrup in top of double boiler and mix thoroughly. SUIT SEEKING TO BREAK WILL UP FOR TRIAL

Jury to Hear Action Monday Against Beneficiary of Bloominggrove Estate.

A jury in common pleas court Monday will hear a suit contesting the will of the late Willis Egner of Bloominggrove township. Four other cases are scheduled for trial during the week.

The action involving the will was brought against B. W. Egner of Greenwich, brother of Mr. Egner and chief beneficiary of his estate, by a sister, Mrs. Bessie Smith of Ashland and nieces and nephews of near Shelby, who asked the court to determine whether the paper is the authentic will.

Received $1 Under Will.

The plaintiffs received $1 each under terms of the will which was drawn up a month before Mr. Egner's death last September. The estate, estimated at $6,000, is comprised largely of two 64-acre farms in Bloominggrove township.

Attys' Earl A. Nist and John C. O'Donnell and W. J. Bissman will represent the plaintiffs and Glenn W. Marriott and R. E. Hutchison are counsel for the defendant.

Other case sset for hearing during the week are:

Miami Valley Brewing company vs. the Shelby Ice and Fuel company, $341 judgment suit. Attys. Beam and Beam for plaintiff and Long, Anderson and Green for the defendant; Louise Pesano vs. Ruby Carnes, $6,000 damage suit resulting from a traffic accident in Mansfield, and criminal actions against Myer Abramson and George Ross.

Atty. C. J. Kalbfleisch will represent Miss Pesano in her suit, while Atty. L. A. Straits will be counsel for the defendant.

Abramson is charged with assault and battery and Ross will go on trial on a statutory charge.

Nazi Stand Causes Denmark to Shift Views on Defense

COPENHAGEN — (AP) — Denmark has turned away from its old belief that "the best defense is no defense." She is going to rearm. The reason is Nazi Germany.

The dominant social democrat party, despite the unwillingness of the radicals, with whom it forms the government, has decided to vote 50,000,000 kroner ($11,000,000) for defense. The governments of Denmark's sister Scandinavian nations, Sweden and Norway, recently have come to similar decisions.

Denmark's 50,000,000 kroner will go for storing of wartime necessities and acceleration of such military preparations as already have been authorized by parliament.

But this is only a start. There is definite talk of the possibility of a Scandinavian defense alliance. Denmark and Sweden together may fortify both sides of the Oeresund, the strait that separates them. There are reports of far-reaching plans for sowing the Oeresund with mines in case of war.

38 AT CLINIC

CRESTLINE—Thirty-eight children attended the pre-school clinic held Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday at the high school building.

Thirty immunizations against diphtheria were given to children who had not previously had them. Parents were notified of the clinical findings.

The examinations were made by Dr. G. T. Wasson, county health commissioner, and Misses Gertrude Cramer, Florence Wentz and Helen Basinger, county nurses, assisted by Misses Mary Marquart and Jean Hunter of the Crestline Woman's club.

THOMSON DOES MANY OF 'EM WRONG WITH 82 IN U. S. OPEN.

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK — (AP) — They've strung wire outside the ropes of the ring Joe Louis uses at Pompton Lakes. . . . But the idea is not to keep the sparring partners from fleeing what Harry Balogh calls "the arener," what with the sad showing Joseph has been making and all. . . . Not that we want to start anything, but what is the real low down on that Jimmy Adamick-Jack Trammell thing in Chicago the other night? . . . Jimmy Thomson's 82 did a lot of us wrong in the open yesterday, but the guy will turn in one red hot round before the thing's over and you can bet on that.

Mohican Club Plays Shelby

The Mohican Chevrolets, who dropped their belated opening at Perrysville last Sunday, will go to Shelby Sunday to meet the Shelby Settlement team.

The Mohican and Shelby clubs staged a series of spectacular games last year and the tilt should draw a big crowd. Manager Bob Martin of the Chevrolets has not announced his pitching choice, but it is likely that Dave Arbaugh will get the call. The Chevies lost to Perrysville, 4 to 3, in their opener.

JOHNS PARK JUNIORS AVENGE ONLY DEFEAT

The Johns Park Juniors obtained revenge for the only defeat on their record yesterday when they trimmed the Buckeye team, 5 to 3, at Johns park. The victory was the 15th of the season for the Juniors, who won on four hits. Pittman limited the losers to three.

Pass Bissman Team in 'B' League as Frantz Hangs Up Season Record.

A NEW TEAM roosted on the top perch of the News-Journal Class B league standings today.

The Bissman company representatives suffered a momentary letdown in the weekly matches staged at Possum Run yesterday, and the Mansfield Metal Vaults took advantage of it to climb into the No. 1 position.

Knock Off Motors.

Elmer Hedeen's club swingers knocked off the lowly Auxter Motors, 4 to 1, to gain first place by the slim margin of one point. A 3 to 2 defeat administered the Bissman team by the Ohio Public Service contingent enabled the Vaults to vault into the coveted front position.

Another important change in the standings was brought about by the News-Journals, who trimmed Central Fruit, 4 to 1, to climb into a tie for second.

Al's Kicks won over the Elks, 2 to 1, in the other match, with two points depending on the playoff of a postponed individual match.

The individual fireworks yesterday were supplied by Oscar Frantz of the O. P. S. who turned out the best medal score of the season with a smart 35. He won his match from the No. 1 Bissman player, Tony Schadek, who carded a 43, without difficulty.

Lead Metal Vaults.

Featuring the Metal Vaults' victory were the 38's manufactured by Fay Strome and John Foltz. The only other player to break 40 yesterday was V. H. Oberlander of the newspaper team, who also blasted a 38.

CRONIN BLANKS DAYTON, WINS GAME WITH DOUBLE

Allowing only three hits, Chuck Cronin, former Mansfield and Tiffin pitcher, hurled the last-place Johnstown Mid-Atlantic league club to a 2 to 0 victory over Dayton yesterday. Chuck won his own game by doubling in the fourth....Eric Peet, 35, former national handball champion, dropped dead in the second game of a tournament in New York last night....Helen Jacobs, who injured her shoulder in practice, will not appear with the U. S. Wightman team in the matches opening in England today.. Reports today say that the old pain has reappeared in Dizzy Dean's arm, and he will need at least one more week of rest....

Ed Chatlain to Join Legion Club Sunday

Dale Leedy Also to Return to Lineup for Booster Game With Lancaster at Fairground.

ONE new addition and the return of Dale Leedy to the lineup for Sunday's Booster day game with Lancaster at the Fairground was announced today by Manager Dewey Durant of the American Legion club, Mansfield's representative in the Central Ohio semi-pro league.

The new acquisition is Ed Chatlain, another product of the Mansfield sandlots who performed with the city champion Mohican Chevrolet team last year.

Plays Outfield, First.

Chatlain, who is finishing his freshman year at Wittenburg college this spring, is a former Mansfield high school star, and can play either the outfield or first base.

Durant plans to use Chatlain in the outfield, where the Legion pilot expects him to develop into a high-class performer.

Chatlain is the fourth member of the 1937 champions to join the Legionnaires. The other three former Chevrolets are Freddy Lewis and Dick Donnan, who have been holding down infield posts, and Joe Atton, catcher.

The addition of Chatlain and return of Leedy is expected to bring the strength of the Legion club up to par again.

Leedy was not in uniform Sunday when the Legionnaires took a whipping from New Philadelphia because of illness.

Plans to Use Dudley.

Durant definitely decided today to start Donald Dudley, a new right-hander, on the mound Sunday against Lancaster, which upset the dope last Sunday by trimming Coshocton.

Dudley made his debut last Sunday in a relief role, and showed enough in his brief appearance to earn a starting assignment.

Booster day tickets are now being sold at 40 cents.

June 22 Will Be Big Day In Sports Field

That's Date of Yank Games, New York Title Fight.

Mark down June 22 as a pretty important day in the sports whirl. That's the day the Yankees come to the Cleveland stadium for a pair of tilts with the Indians . . . and also the day Mr. Louis and Mr. Schmeling have their little party in the absent Yanks' home in New York City.

Dutch Trautwein has replaced Butch Grover as basketball coach at Ohio U. Butch, who turned out a bunch of winners at Athens, has been named director of publicity. . . . Johnny Bohyer has also relinquished his coaching job at Shelby high. Johnny remains on the faculty, but Bill Query will handle the cagers.

Gus Weikert, Lucas mentor, is vacationing in California. . . . Here it is June 10th and the Indians are still in first place. Last year they were ousted from the lead on May 20, the year before on April 27, in 1935 it was May 10, June 4 the preceding year and May 15 in 1933. And here it is June 10.

TROJANS NOT TO APPEAR IN OHIO STATE MEET

COLUMBUS—(INS)—High hopes held by Ohio State University athletic officials for a showing here of the University of Southern California track team were shattered today with the announcement the Trojans will not participate in a meet Saturday. With Southern California's withdrawal, Ohio State and Indiana will compete in a dual meet at Ohio Stadium.

SWEET'S TEAM WINS

Sweet's Gulf Oils defeated the Hartman Electrics, 14 to 5, in a Commercial league game at North park Wednesday. Walters secured five hits, struck out 14 and walked only one as he stopped the Electrics.

Petey Beer to Try For Sixth Win at League Park Sunday

21-Year-Old Mound Ace to Hurl for Hi-Speeds Against Grandview Independents.

FIVE victories in six games constitutes a pretty good sandlot pitching record.

Petey Beer, just 21, is the holder of such a record with the Mansfield Hi-Speeds, and he will attempt to lengthen the win end Sunday when he faces the Grandview Independents at League park.

Beats Akron Twice.

Beer's victories have been registered at the expense of the Sandusky Amburns, Columbus Cardinals, Carey Eagles and Filbey Printers of Akron, who he turned back twice.

The only defeat suffered by Beer was in a game with the Sandusky club, and the loss was due more to the inability of his teammates to produce runs than his pitching.

Beer is expected to face a pretty stout assignment in the Grandview club Sunday. Sunday's visitors have won three out of six games against strong central Ohio competition.

Grandview defeated Johnstown, 5 to 2, last Sunday to hand the losers its first setback of the season.

Hunter Fans 19.

Al (Lefty) Hunter, who will probably be on the mound for the invaders Sunday, allowed Johnstown only six hits and whiffed 19.

Listed among the Grandview players are Jack (Tippy) Karshner, ex-Columbus Aquinas athlete, who patrols center field, and Harvey Cowgill, one of the veterans of the squad, who holds down second base and sports one of the best batting averages on the club.

Cuemen Hosts To Johnsville At Home Park

The Rex Billiards will continue their practice of playing Saturday and Sunday games this week-end, Manager John Stoner announced today.

The Rex baseball club has booked the strong Johnsville team for a single game at the League park at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, and will go to Lucas on Sunday.

Stoner announced that Lawrence Smith, who pitched a one-hit game to stop the Carey Eagles last Sunday, will face Johnsville, with "Butch" Shaffer his likely mound opponent. Moore has been nominated to hurl the Lucas game Sunday.

RUSSELL, PATTERSON LEAD SOHIO ATTACK

Young's Sohioans defeated the Raemelton Farm softball club, 6 to 4, at Johns park yesterday. Russell, with a home run and double, and Patterson with a homer and two singles, led the Sohioans. Walters struck out 15 as he scattered eight hits.

CLEVELAND ATTEMPTS TO PEDDLE GALEHOUSE

BOSTON—(INS)—It has been revealed that Manager Oscar Vitt has been endeavoring to bring about negotiations with other clubs which would involve Galehouse in a trade for another player. One of the offers was to trade the Doylestown, O., hurler for Louis (Buck) Newsom of the St. Louis Browns.

Softball Tussle On Festival Card

A feature of the Strawberry festival at Johns park today will be a softball game between the crack Beeber-Ross team and Brownie's Beers. The game is scheduled at 6 p. m.

Jimmy Fullager will be attempting to register his third victory of the week today. He will be opposed by the Beers' ace, Joe Wentz.

Move to New York

Indians Open Important 3-Game Series With Yankees Today.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians moved into the Yankee stadium today to open an important three-game series with Col. Jake Ruppert's lads.

Earl Whitehill was the Tribe's choice to pitch against the world champions, who yesterday took the final tilt of a four-game engagement with the Chicago White Sox by a 5-3 margin. Manager Joe McCarthy sent "Lefty" Gomez to the hill for New York.

Cleveland, blanked 8-0 by "Lefty" Grove and the Boston Red Sox yesterday, entered New York with a three and one-half game lead over the second-place Yankees.

Grove's stellar pitching and his teammates' dynamic bats set the Indians down in a lop-sided contest, one of their most humiliating defeats since the campaign opened. The victory gave the Sox the series.

Jimmy Foxx rifled out his 18th home run of the year and the fourth he registered against the Tribe during the Boston stand.

President Alva Bradley of the Indians was here to act as peacemaker between Manager Oscar Vitt and Johnny Allen, the temperamental pitcher who refused to remove a slit sweat shirt at the umpire's orders in Boston. Vitt fined Allen $250.

"Of course Allen can't wear that shirt. It's against league rules," Bradley said. "Or, if he does wear it, at least he'll have to sew it up."

SCORE TWICE IN NINTH TO DEFEAT ELECTRICS

Hammering two runs across the plate in the last of the ninth, the Liberty park softball contingent defeated the Hartman Electrics, 7 to 6, at the park yesterday. The Electrics tallied five times in the first of the ninth to go ahead by one run. Gemzer obtained two hits for the Parkmen, and Kline and Kisling secured two apiece for the losers. It's 'Do or Die' for Crack National Open Field Today

By RUSS NEWLAND

DENVER—(AP)—Slightly groggy but still in there punching, golf's bigwigs and less noted members of the clan let loose their best shots today in another bout with par which brought the National Open championship through the second round.

It was "do or die" this day on ribbon-like fairways and treacherous greens of Cherry Hills. When the bombardment ceased nearly two-thirds of the field was slated to take that last long trek to the sidelines of the biggest golfing show of 1938.

The 60 low scorers and ties remained to fight it out in the last 36 holes tomorrow.

Pace Setters Henry Picard and Jimmy Hines teed off in an easier frame of mind than many of their five-star compatriots. Each knocked out a first round 70. It was one under par for the mile high course where drives travel swiftly to greater distances in the rarified atmosphere but where true placement of shots is more essential in the compilation of the final score. Lean, lank Picard from Hershey, Pa., clubbed his sub-par effort into the records with a 36-34. Hines, blond and easy going New Yorker, reversed the figures.

The field that started out so boldly in yesterday's opening round split apart like a storm-wracked ship on the rocks.

The opening favorite, Sam Snead of West Virginia, bobbed up with a dismal 77 but still able to smile. He may or may not be among the select 60 after today, depending on how many strokes he lops off the first round score.

Harry Cooper, from Chicopee, Mass., and renowned for his bulldog tenacity, started off with a 76.

Five important men in the divot chopping business practically clubbed themselves out — Horton Smith, 80; Ky Laffoon, 81; Jimmy Thomson, 82; Bobby Cruickshank, 83; Sam Parks, 1935 champion, 85.

Husky John Rogers, local pro, turned in a par-equalling 71. His 33 was the lowest first nine of the round.

Emery Zimmerman started his second round backed by an opening 72 while Willie Hunter and Dick Metz were contenders at 73.

Defending Champion Ralph Guldahl and three former title holders, Gene Sarazen, Olin Dutra and Tony Manero, were soundly placed with seven others at 74.

Billy Burke of Cleveland, open kingpin in 1931, hit the second round in a tie with seven others at 75. Other Ohio scores: Ed Servis, Dayton, 76; Ray Mangrum, Dayton, 77; "Bunny" Berning, Cincinnati, 79; Jack Thompson, Youngstown, 79; Jock Willowett, Dayton, 80; Tony Penna, Dayton 83; Bob Shave, Cleveland, 85; and Carmen Bill, Cleveland, 88.

Canzols, Elks Vie Saturday

The Mansfield Canzols will attempt to hang up their fourth victory in their eighth game of the season at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, when they engage the Mansfield colored Elks at Tillman's park. The Elks were formerly known as the Empire Giants.

Manager Jeff Holmquist plans to start Gil Weigand on the mound. He will use Al Boyer Sunday for the Canzols' game at Perrysville.

WHEN LIFE DEPENDS ON TIRE SAFETY
On May 30, Floyd Roberts shattered all track records for the 500-mile Indianapolis Race averaging 117.2 miles an hour using Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.
IT'S ALWAYS Firestone
FOR 19 CONSECUTIVE YEARS THE WINNERS OF THE INDIANAPOLIS 500-MILE RACE HAVE PROTECTED THEIR LIVES WITH FIRESTONE GUM-DIPPED TIRES

THEY said it couldn't be done — that tires could not withstand the torture of the new high speeds. Yet Floyd Roberts set a new record, at this year's Indianapolis Race, averaging 117.2 miles an hour for the 500 miles on Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires.

With the sun-baked brick of the straight-away and the granite-hard surface of the turns pulling and grinding at their tires, 33 daring drivers, every one on Firestone Tires, waged a thrilling battle for gold and glory. Never before have tires been called upon to take such punishment. Never in all the history of the motor car has tire safety been put to such a gruelling test. Yet not one tire failed — not one single cord loosened — because Gum-Dipping, that famous Firestone patented process saturates and coats every cotton fiber in every cord in every ply with liquid rubber counteracting the tire-destroying internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

Why risk your life and the lives of others on unsafe tires? Join the Firestone SAVE A LIFE Campaign today by equipping your car with Firestone Triple-Safe Tires — the only tires made that are safety-proved on the speedways for your protection on the highways.

STOCK PRICES DRAG IN SLOW PERFORMANCE

Delay in Adjournment of Congress Seen as Restraining Influence.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market was unable to follow through today on the belated rally of the preceding session and leading issues settled down to a dragging performance that lacked a trend either way.

Most bonds and commodities pointed higher. Foreign markets did better.

Apparent delay in adjournment of congress was seen as a restraining influence on stocks.

Scant encouragement was found by market analysts in week-end trade reports.

The Dun & Bradstreet summary placed retail distribution throughout the country at 2 to 5 per cent above the previous week which contained the Memorial day holiday. The aggregate, however, was 12 to 21 per cent under the corresponding week a year ago.

The federal reserve board estimated department store sales for May were down 17 per cent from the same 1937 month.

THESE ARE BUSY DAYS ON FARMS

stock "youngsters" are big enough to consume a more substantial meal of grass and other feed.

But, by the time the county fair rolls around, on July 27, 28 and 29, animals such as their's will be ready to trot out in show competition.

The county fair is early this year and it's for that reason that farm youths are beginning to think early about what they will show.

In the words of H. H. Wolf, president of the Richland County Agricultural society, the county fair gives the youngster on the farm a chance to demonstrate what they can do.

"The fair gives the youngster something to look forward to. He'll work hard to exhibit an animal that is really of the show type. As this interest passes on from year to year, it becomes more and more a part of his life. And for city residents, it leads to the development of better produce from the farm and consequently a better quality of edibles for the dinner table," Wolf said.

CORNERSTONE OF CHURCH TO BE LAID SUNDAY

New $10,000 Lincoln Heights Edifice Expected to Be Completed Sept. 1.

The cornerstone of the new Lincoln Heights Church of the Brethren church will be laid at ceremonies at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

The address for the occasion will be delivered by Rev. Wilmer Petry of Akron, who at present is conducting a series of special services for the congregation. Assisting at the service will be Rev. W. L. Desenberg of Ashland, first pastor of the church.

Construction on the new edifice was started May 1 by the Glasener company, Mansfield contractors. The church will seat 200 persons and is being built at a cost of about $10,000.

Constructed of brick and tile, it will have a basement for Sunday school rooms. The new building is expected to be completed by Sept. 1.

Put Names in Cornerstone.

In the cornerstone will be the history of the church, a list of members of the congregation, names of members of the building committee. The article will be enclosed in a Bible sealed in a lead box.

Rev. W. G. McFadden, the pastor, is the third who has served the congregation and has headed since October, 1929.

The congregation was organized 12 years ago, and since then has held services in the Lincoln Heights school. At the time of organization only afternoon meetings were held. The congregation now has a membership of 87.

Members of the building committee are John W. Kline, chairman, Paul M. Garverick, Charles W. Kline, Edwin Jacoby and R. A. Fulevider. C. H. Deardorff of Ashland is elder of the church.

Treasurer Brings Actions to Collect $398 in Back Taxes.

Three foreclosure actions to collect a total of $398 in delinquent taxes had been filed in common pleas court today by County Treasurer John E. Kolb.

The largest suit names the Shelby Lumber company as defendant and seeks to collect $217 alleged due on a lot on Gerke avenue.

The other actions are against Felix Witschi and Walter Sirian, or his heirs.

Witschi is defendant in a $169 suit involving part of a vacant lot on Scholl road, while the Sirian property is in the Brookline addition. Only $12 in back taxes is due on the Brookline lot.

GEOLOGISTS ARGUE IN EONS

PALO ALTO, Cal.—(UP)—Paleontologists and geologists have a remarkable latitude in which to disagree. N. L. Taliaferro of the University of California argues that recent researches place the creating of the San Andears fault of California, one of the greatest earth rifts in the world, at about one million years ago. Other authorities placed it at 55,000,000 years ago.

ARMS PROGRAM CAUSES BRITISH UNION CONFLICT

Engineering Craft Fights Plan to 'Dilute' Skilled Labor in Plants.

(By United Press)

LONDON—Great Britain's armament speedup is threatened by increasing opposition from the engineering unions.

Several weeks ago Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Sir Thomas Inskip, defense minister, called trade union representatives into consultation at 10 Downing street and urged them to meet employers' representatives immediately to decide on measures for gearing British industry for the greatest peace-time arms drive in the country's history. So far, however, no such conference of employers and employes has been held.

The engineering unions now attack the armaments program as being based on a foreign policy with which they strongly disagree. They are bitterly opposed also to the government's plan for "diluting" skilled labor in the engineering industry by introducing semi-skilled workers, as happened during the World war.

Labor's Case Outlined.

Threat of further opposition to the government's arms drive is contained in an article by Fred A. Smith, secretary of the Amalgamated Engineering Union, in a recent issue of the union's journal.

Declaring that the council of the Amalgamated Engineering Union "takes a very serious view of the position that has arisen in connection with rearmament," Smith refers to a meeting between Inskip and the council on April 4.

"We reminded Sir Thomas," he said, "that what the government was asking us to do was to open our industry to allow unskilled men to do skilled men's work. We suggested that there was one thing that might be done which could be calculated to have the desired effect. We had a door to open which would put 300,000 to work. This door would be thrown wide open if the government decided to send instruments of warfare to help the legally elected government of Spain in its struggle against Italy, Germany and Gen Francisco Franco. To this Sir Thomas replied, "For better or for worse, we have decided not to send arms to either side, and we have faithfully kept to that."

Smith also criticized plans for introduction of unskilled labor in the engineering industry.

TRAFFIC TAGS COST CITY

SAN FRANCISCO — (U P)—Harold Boyd, city controller, has discovered the city loses money every time a policeman tags a traffic violator. For 1937, traffic regulation cost the city $400,000, while collections on 300,000 one-dollar tags were only $118,000.

What Is Your News IQ.?

NORTHERN OHIO SAVINGS UP

TOLEDO — (U P) — Savings have been increasing recently despite poor business conditions, building and savings associations representatives in northwestern Ohio's 10 counties have reported.

It's Odd

But It's Science.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Soft glass makes a slightly hard pillow.

The pillow material is the new glass fiber. Strands of this glass are finer than any hair, finer than anything in nature except eiderdown. The glass fibres are about equal to eiderdown.

But the Allergia Products company of Newton, Mass., found the fine glass unsuited for pillows. It has, they reported at the American College of Physicians meeting here, a "hard" feel when the head presses its strands together.

This is surprising, in view of the fact that the fiber glass is so elastic that after being compressed to half its ordinary volume, it springs back to original shape without outside aid.

Glass pillows were tried in the hope that they would be the perfect answer for the person who is allergic to the contents of a pillow. Some persons get skin rashes or even hay fever from the ordinary stuffings of pillows.

The "allergies" are due to a chemical reaction. Glass is presumably free from this possibility. The Newton concern reported that its best success is with pure silk fluff for filling pillows. The silk retains its softness and elasticity under repeated pressings.

TOLEDO BANS BINGO

TOLEDO —(U.P.)— Bingo games here have been banned by police, backed by City Manager John N. Edy. Edy said that the way to clear out "chiseling gamblers" is to get them before they get a start. "If the order interferes with church or fraternal parties, it's just too bad," he said.

FIRST OF PIE CHERRIES ARRIVE AT MARKETS; CROP TO BE LIGHT

Sour pie cherries and the first shipment of transparent apples came to the Mansfield food markets this week. The former are selling for a nominal price for this early in the season, but they probably won't get any cheaper as the season advances, market men say. A trip up through the Lake Erie orchards tells the story—the pie cherries in Ohio were almost wiped out by the late ice storm in the spring. Even the fruit coming in now is somewhat the worse for the ice.

Strawberries have decreased very little in price and are still selling at the downtown markets for between 18 and 20 cents. Other berries are arriving too, red and black raspberries, blueberries, blackberries and mountain huckleberries.

Watermelons are becoming more familiar sights in windows and on fruit counters and other melons, too, are plentiful, including cantaloupe, honeyrock and honeydew.

Georgia is sending free-stone white peaches to the market and from California comes apricots and Bing cherries.

The first of the new crop of iceburg head lettuce made its appearance this week, and butter lettuce came in early last week. Home grown turnips, small and tender, with their green tops, are an attractive item. Then there is egg plant—large and "baby" variety—green peas, Lima beans, and green beans, okra (gumbo), and mustard greens and kale.

Ugly Eczema Makes Life Wretched

The itching torment of eczema is enough to make anyone wretched and anxious for relief. If you suffer from eczema, itchy pimples, angry red blotches or other blemishes due to external causes, get Peterson's Ointment, 35c all druggists. If one application does not delight you, money refunded. Peterson's Ointment also wonderful for itching of feet, cracks between toes.—Adv.

Health! MAKE CHILDREN'S LAUNDRY CLOROX-CLEAN!

When it's CLOROX-CLEAN ...it's disinfected!

DISINFECTED cleanliness of "baby-things" is vital for health protection. Clorox used in the regular laundering process makes white cottons and linens snowy-white, fresh-smelling, sanitary... especially important for diapers, bed protectors, rubber sheets, panties. Those Who Kidnap Should Die.

ANOTHER kidnaping mystery has been solved. Again, as has so frequently been the case, the victim is dead.

The fact that the ransom money has been recovered and that a deeply involved suspect is in custody is small consolation when weighed against the terrible circumstance that an innocent child has been ruthlessly deprived of his right to live.

However far the pendulum may have swung toward toleration of crime and leniency toward criminals, it is doubted if many would contend that the perpetrator of such a hideous act should not be quickly put to death—not as punishment but as a means of exterminating a vicious beast, utterly lacking in those elements which distinguish human beings from the bloodthirsty animals of the jungle.

Look alongside at the picture of smiling, happy, carefree James B. Cash, jr., the five-and-a-half-year-old blond, blue-eyed boy who was abducted from his home in the small town of Princeton, Fla., little less than two weeks ago. Consider the cold brutality of such a deed, followed by a demand for $10,000 ransom, collection of the money and fiendish murder of the child.

Take into account that this occurrence is only one of a number of similar crimes that have been committed in various parts of the United States in recent years—a roster that would doubtless have been greatly extended had it not been for effective work of J. Edgar Hoover and his associates in the Federal Bureau of Investigation in running down kidnapers.

Impractical theorists and visionary sentimentalists who sincerely argue that it is "wrong" to take human life and that the death penalty should therefore be abolished may be admired for their idealism, but it must be contended that they show little understanding of the problem presented by the continued existence on earth of some strange monstrosities, in human form, who are without spark of conscience or soul and who possess an irresistible lust to plunder, torture and kill.

When it is a condition, rather than a theory, that is being dealt with, and when an example is presented such as that involved in the kidnap-murder of the little boy in Florida, it may be wondered if any parent—or other good citizen—would argue that the perpetrator of such an act, or those who connived with him in it, should be permitted to continue to live.

Biblical sanction of the death penalty is found in the sixth verse of the ninth chapter of Genesis, in which God is quoted as saying to Noah and his sons, "Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed. . . ."

If it be contended that the physical body is the abiding place of a spiritual being, then an act of mercy is performed in freeing the spirit from the hampering influences of a bestial nature capable of committing such an atrocity.

By all means, let the orderly processes of law act in cases such as this—rather than that unleashed passion be permitted to dictate violent measures that may sometimes seem justifiable—but let painless extermination be the fate of those who, by their inhuman acts, forfeit the right to live!

Railroads Need Revamping.

THE wage bill of the railroads has become too great for the traffic to bear, according to Leonard P. Ayres, banker-economist. But he doesn't think wage reductions alone can save the industry. There are too many things wrong.

"Our railroad system can be cured," he says, "only by the adoption of comprehensive legislation providing for the rapid reorganization of insolvent lines, the merging of existing companies into a limited number of strong systems, the prompt abandonment of a large amount of non-essential branch mileage, and a considerable decrease in the number of employes.

"These are radical remedies, but they appear to be essential, and it may well be doubted whether we can have real business recovery in this country until they are adopted."

This looks like next year's job for the government. If business improvement doesn't ease the situation, it may have to be tackled even sooner.

Party-Line Time-Killers.

WHEN conversation turns to use of the telephone, the most frequently expressed annoyance has to do with some one person on each party line who seems to have nothing to do but use the telephone and whose long-winded sessions prevent others from "getting the line" for even brief, important calls.

Party-lines, which provide service for a number of subscribers, are intended, of course, for brief messages instead of for visiting—and in no case would courtesy permit holding the line more than five minutes at a time.

Rural lines already provide an automatic cut-off at the end of five minutes. Unless it is practicable to adapt some such device to city party-line service it would seem fair to fix the charge on a basis of minutes used, or to hit upon a method whereby other subscribers on the line could "break in" for a few minutes use at some time during the morning, afternoon or evening.

All the poor cannot be made rich, but all the rich can be made poor—if that will help any.

Keeping Step

—By LESLIE EICHEL

THE bombing of civilian cities greatly concerns Britain. The British Isles are vulnerable to air attack. The havoc that could be wrought over London by modern bombers would be colossal compared to that wrought over cities of Loyalist Spain or China.

In the meantime, Japan has not hesitated to destroy British property, first in its bombing of Shanghai, then Nanking, and latterly Canton. Now the militarists insist that Hongkong be taken. Hongkong is a British port, not Chinese. It nevertheless is the gateway for a large part of China's munitions. If Hongkong ever is bombed, the entire world could be set aflame.

Nor is the bombing of the Loyalist cities of Spain any light matter in the realm of world politics, aside from the slaughter of innocent people by the Insurgents. It is believed that these bombings in Spain are carried on by Italian and German aviators and planes. Neither Great Britain nor France can permit Insurgent Spanish territory to become military bases for the Fascist nations—and that is exactly what it has become.

WHAT IS OCCURRING?

France especially is anxious to know what is occurring behind the Insurgent lines in Spain. General Franco has a true Fascist regime, with strict censorship. No one, seemingly, dare speak the facts.

But France and Britain believe the facts to be about as bad as possible—Insurgent Spain has become a vital "starting-off" place for the Fascist forces. But where will they go? To France, next door? Surely, then, they would have to face Britain, too. And it is questionable whether Italy would face Britain. Spain may be the bluff, bought at terrible cost to the Spanish people, the bluff of the Fascist nations against the democracies of the west. But will it work?

BRITAIN'S BLUNDER?

There is a growing feeling in Great Britain that the Tories made a vital mistake in not ending the Spanish war quickly by joining with France and Russia to help the Loyalists crush the insurgents immediately. That could have been done early in the war, before Italy and Germany had sent in large reinforcements.

Would that have caused another world war? That question will have to remain unanswered forever. British anti-Tory opinion believes rather that it might have outbluffed the Fascists.

Be that as it may, the sentiment in Great Britain and France is strongly against aid to any country except each other. Mussolini and Hitler know this. Yet they may go too far. And, if they go too far, it will be because of their airplanes bombing defenseless Loyalist cities. The world rises up in horror against that. Even Spanish Insurgent leaders are said to have risen up against Franco in this.

FAR EAST—GONE

In trade and prestige, the British loss in China is greater, but the danger is less. If the British permit Japan to go on unchecked, both trade and prestige will be gone in the Far East. That loss of face may spread into India and Egypt. It is a serious blow to Britain

But what can Britain do? She cannot leave Europe unguarded. Thus she can do nothing in the Far East unless she joins hands with the Soviet Union and the United States. She hesitates to join hands with the Soviet Union, and the United States hesitates to join hands with her. Thus the Far East is left to Japan. The Chinese may weary Japan and eventually starve her through constant harrowing, but Japan is IN China very far, indeed.

And the Fascist nations may not be stopped unless Great Britain, the Soviet Union, France and the United States do join hands—not in war pacts, but in understanding and in determination to save their own outposts. That is a belief among international observers.

Timely Editorial

Again, Only One Will Pay.

The United States government has made its annual futile gesture. It notified 13 European nations that the annual installment on their debt incurred in the war that was to make the world safe for democracy falls due June 15.

The total collection should amount to $1,891,661,670. The amount expected to be realized will be $161,935 50. That will come from Finland, the only country meeting its obligations.

We have got used to associating billions with debts. Tacking on a few billions to the national debt is just routine and not many know what we get for the money. If we can learn that it doesn't pay to underwrite European quarrels the lesson will be cheap at just under a couple billions. —Detroit News.

Reviewing Iowa Primary Outcome

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — Iowa's primary result is being acclaimed by anti-New Deal Democrats as a victory for their political group, but the situation is not quite as simple as that.

Representative Otha D. Wearin, seeking the Democratic senatorial nomination, presumably with the New Deal's blessing, was, indeed, badly beaten by Senator Guy M. Gillette, who was renominated under circumstances which implied that the New Deal opposed him. As a matter of fact, except on the supreme court issue, Wearin's and Gillette's congressional records have been much the same on the New Deal. But let that pass; assume that Gillette's victory was as ainti-New Dealers contend, a triumph for their bunch.

On the opposite hand, ex-Senator L. J. Dickinson, attempting to return to Washington as a Republican solon, was nominated in a primary which gave nearly twice as many Republican as Democratic votes.

WHO WINS.

The suggestion is rather strong that, though Gillette beat Wearin in June, Dickinson will beat Gillette in November.

I am prepared to believe that many anti-New Deal Democrats in Iowa and elsewhere, prefer Republicans to pro-New Deal Democrats. Which makes it seem all the more likely that the Hawkeye commonwealth, historically normally Republican, is about to swing back to the G. O. P. column.

If so, which side wins? Republicans? Or a coalition of Republicans and anti-New Deal Democrats?

TESTING GROUNDS?

Iowa has been considerably advertised as a political testing ground.

In the Florida primaries the New Deal won, but there was only one side to that contest. In North Carolina there is plenty of anti-New Deal sentiment. Nevertheless, it happened that, in this last batch of primaries, all candidates of Democratic proclivities (and there are no Republicans in the area) professed pro-New Deal leanings. I say "professed"; I may have doubts as to some of their sincerities.' Still, they look like New Deal victors.

Pennsylvania and Oregon results are confused. In neither state can one say decisively that "pro" or "anti" New Dealers are predominant, and either one may swing Republicanly in November.

NOTHING CLEAN-CUT.

The truth is, no longer are there any clean-cut Republicans or Democrats.

There are New Dealers and anti-New Dealers.

Presently they will have to have distinctive party names.

"For many years," says Washington Correspondent Matsuo Kato of the Japanese newspaper Nichi Nichi, "your country has been in process of political transformation. I don't know what it is coming to."

I have thought the same thing since Theodore Roosevelt was Bull Moose candidate for presidential honors in 1916, not to mention the elder Senator Robert M. La Follette's candidacy in 1924.

AN OBSERVER'S VIEW.

"I don't think," relates Correspondent Kato, one of Japan's foremost journalistic spokesman, "that Rooseveltianism is dangerous.

"The time for 'rugged individualism' has passed."

"Do you think," I asked, "that period has passed, not only for this hemisphere, but for the world—tropical South America and Africa?"

"Well," answered Correspondent Kato, "I don't refer to the unknown; I speak of organized states."

AS TO CHINA—?

Now, China, is that an "organized state"?

"Well," said Correspondent Kato, "it is an 'organized state,' but not a 'WELL organized state'."

Watching Trends

America's Scattered Telephones.

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Just about every year somebody comes out with a tabulation to show that Americans are living on the fat of the land because they have 1,700 telephones for every one they have in Afghanistan or Tibet and as many as all the rest of the world put together.

Telephones are always computed per capita. This gives the United States a whopping edge, for the latest tabulation coming to us indicates there are 18,433,400 telephones in this country. That is about one for every seven persons, more or less—that is, more or less persons, not more or less telephones.

Now 18,433,400 telephones is a lot of numbers to call and it is the proud but honest boast of the telephone company that any one of these telephones can telephone any one of the other 18,433,399 at almost any time of the day or night.

But when a party is hunting a telephone while stranded on a dark country road it is no pleasure to know that one out of every seven has it. He wants to know how many there are per square mile of dark countryside and what his chances are of finding one. That, statistically, is different.

The same tabulation by which we were informed that the United States has 18,433,400 telephones (it is even more by now, we were cautioned), also informed us that England had 2,791,597 and Japan 1,197,129.

That is far fewer telephones than in the United States—per person. But on a square mile basis it leaves the United States far less happy.

Closed for Holiday.

ENGLAND has an area of 94,272 square miles, about the same as one of our hotly contested midwestern states. And when you spread 2,791,597 telephones in such an area it means one telephone every little way, not to mention the pub on the corner. All in all, it measures 28.5 telephones per square mile, which is something better than we could calculate for the United States.

Japan has 261,832 square miles to be covered by its 1,197,129 telephones, or 4 5 telephones per square mile.

Now the United Sates has to cover 3,026,789 square miles with its 18,000,000 odd phones, or six to the square mile. Moreover, it is no comfort to the stranded vacationist to know that he may find them in clusters of two or three in a house or even six on one desk.

What he wants is one telephone, with a telephone book hung on a string nearby containing the number of the nearest garage. And the chances are when he gets the call through—which will be prompt enough if it is possible—he will find the garage closed for the night and not opening tomorrow because of the holiday.

Senator's Night Gown.

AT THIS point we will record evidence of some old-fashioned non-conformity in Congress in the person of Senator Prentiss M. Brown of Michigan. On a recent date he wrote to the Hotel Olds in Lansing, saying:

"Gentlemen: When I was in Lansing April 24, I left some laundry and said I would call for it. I forgot it when in Lansing last Saturday for a couple of hours. Would you please mail it to me 262 Senate Office Building here (Washington). I also left a white night gown in the room If your maid picked it up would you send it also. Old fashioned night gowns are such a rarity in these pajama days that the loss is more serious than the intrinsic value. I suppose I am one of the few left who cling to this old fashioned luxury, but since I wear pants all day, I like a change at night."

He got it. It was sent him by mail, C. O. D., 90 cents.

Regarding Prejudice.

Never let a prejudice
Enter on your days.
Never let disparagement
Or uncertain praise

Poison you, but go your way
With unchallenged thought,
Choosing whom you will for friend,
As you would be sought.

Those who let a prejudice
Claim and hold the mind
Lose quite often friends in whom
They would pleasure find.

WORDS OF THE WISE

Men err not so much in prompt action as in hasty judgment.—Louis Napoleon.

Listen, World!

Cheap Times Are Bad Times.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU'RE boasting about that new dress. It's wonderfully pretty—a gay, figured print, smartly designed, with trick trimmings. Any one who knows sewing can see at a glance that it was no small job to make that bright bit of fluff.

"And the wonderful part of it is," you cry, "it only cost $4.98. Why, I could hardly have bought the material for that amount, and it would have taken at least two days to make it. Isn't it gorgeous to be able to buy things so cheaply!"

Yes, as far as your wardrobe and mine are concerned, sister, it's probably gorgeous. But when it comes to the rest of the world, I suspect that "cheap prices" are about the worst thing that could happen.

You're amazed. You don't believe it.

Think how many more dresses we all can have," you say. "When I was a girl, I could only have one or two dresses every season. Now I can get a new one almost every week."

That's true. You can get a new one almost every week. But how about the girl who makes the $4.98 dress? Ever stop to think about her?

"But can't she buy more dresses, too?" you say, a little tired of this debating.

No, she can't. When you get dresses for $4.98, it cuts that girl's chances to get any dress at all. The reduction must come out of somebody's pocket. Actually it comes out of many pockets.

Hundreds of workers and business people have to live on less if you buy a dress for $4.98. When they live on less that cuts out their margin for spending. If they can't spend, somebody can't manufacture, and somebody can't rent, and somebody can't put money in the bank.

AND so it goes, on and on, in a vicious circle, and presently stores are standing empty and banks are failing and eleven million people are out of a job.

Then does that mean you shouldn't buy that new dress?

Not at all. Buy a dozen of them, if you can. Buy some of those that are advertised in this paper today and urge every woman you know to do so. IF enough of us will buy dresses and other merchandise, AT ANY PRICE, good times will come back in a hurry.

But, as you buy, don't forget what that cheap dress really means. It doesn't mean merely a lucky break for you. It means hard times all along the line, from the little working girl to the big business man. It means depression.

"I suppose that's right," you say reluctantly. "But that isn't the only reason. I hear a lot of people say it's the fault of the workers, too. They say the workers want too high wages, and that things can't get started until they are willing to work for less; but they aren't willing.

"For example, yesterday a young fellow came by our place looking for work. The garden looked awful and I said I'd give him a dollar if he'd clean it up. We used to pay our old gardener $4 a day. I thought I was lucky to get this fellow for $1, but what he did wasn't even worth that. He went about it as if he didn't care. Didn't seem to have any pride in doing it right. And my friends tell me that that's the way with most of these fellows who want a job."

Yes, I suppose it is. And can you blame them? I suspect that I, too, would "go about things as if I didn't care," if I had to accept starvation wages and to discard all my standards of living.

Cheap wages don't make just cheap clothes. They make cheap standards. They make cheap lives without hope or ambition or pride. They bankrupt people in self-respect as well as in money.

Cheap times are always bad times for any country.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—A world-roving newspaper reporter who eschewed the glamor of far ports to write a dramatic, swift-moving saga of an American family—a proud and sometimes murderous dynasty of the Old South—is attracting a lot of attention with his first novel, "Travelers Rest" (Cottonfield Publishers, Clemson, S. C.)

The author is Ben Robertson, a young man in his early 30's, with blue eyes and unruly brown hair and a widely-spent heritage of wanderlust derived from his great-great-great-great uncle, Daniel Boone.

Wherever he has traveled—on the scorching deck of a tramp steamer in the South Seas . . . In a fog-chilled basement in London . . . Nights after working as a reporter in Adelaide, South Australia . . . In Honolulu, in Moscow and Cape Cod, Robertson jotted notes for a strange, long story of a pioneer southern family.

ROBERTSON sometimes speaks of "Business taking him to Australia." . . . That isn't strictly true, as his friends know. The "business" was simply another attack of the itching foot, and so off he journeyed, with only the horizon as a destination, until he discovered himself one morning working on a newspaper in Adelaide.

The same thing might be said of his trip to Russia . . . He went there to work, it is true, but it occurred to him that it would be a lot more fun "thumbing" than traveling as a passenger . . . So he and a pal worked their way on a lumber boat.

He used to be here in this office, in New York, and then for a while he was in Washington, looking in on the president's press conferences, talking to Jack Garner, hanging around the Mayflower lobby, the Peacock Alley of Washington, where everybody always goes sooner or later.

AND so, after a trick here and there he arrived somehow back in South Carolina, where all those notes began to take shape in the form of a novel . . . He went to work on it, and it's here, and as a result he has had some amazing experiences.

For instance he writes "Some of the papers have asked me to write reviews for them, without a by-line, so I guess that is the strangest break any writer ever got. I have been very modest, just saying it was a fine book and they ought to buy it . . . It has let loose a lot of skeletons—folks have been coming to me to say they have the same kind of stories in their Carolina background."

As to the story itself, it begins in a rude log cabin in pre-Revolutionary days, continues up to the present . . . It is the Illiad of pioneers who planted the corn and fought off "the painted death," as the Indian scalping parties are called.

ALL of US

—By MARSHALL MASLIN

There's a Pattern.

I stand and look up at the great tangle of stars above me . . . and, as always, I am soothed and comforted and strengthened. They are so many and so far from this earth and I am so small and so close to the confusions of this little life that is all we have.

At first, as I look, I am conscious of no arrangement of those swarming stars. They are but points of light, far away. All a soft blue, some large, some small, flung across the heavens as the sower throws the wheat from his hand. . . . Then as I watch more carefully, I see that one star is blue, but another is red and still another is green—and that across the heavens is a thickened line, the milky way and that the mass of stars is in one plane.

So, in the great tangle of the heavens my eyes perceive a pattern. The pattern is beyond my limited comprehension. I understand neither its meaning nor how it came about, but I see that it is there and I am glad to know that all is not confusion in that lovely mass of light, in the darkness of the evening.

And when I bring my eyes down and turn them in toward myself, toward our own human problems, it seems to me that there, too, I find a pattern I could not see before. . . . I see that in every man or woman is a pattern that persists, but is not always seen. The pattern of one life spells Courage, of another it is Patience, of another Unselfishnes. And some lives are patterned in Greed and some in Self-Pity and some in Arrogance. . . . We live for days and weeks and years and never know what we are doing or how our lives are shaped. We live on the surface, and never turn our thoughts in to the center of ourselves. And thus we miss the essence of our friends and the significance of our deeds; do not know whether we are following a straight road or wandering in a wilderness. And know neither strength nor weakness nor blindness or joyful illumination.

Thus we miss the pattern of our lives, the pattern I am sure is in every human heart.

clouds apparently in trouble. A bolt of lightning then struck it, she believed, because the plane as it crashed "made a great blaze."

The field in which it cracked up was about a half mile from the farmhouse. The Youle farm, comprising 250 acres, is about one-half mile north of Delavan.

Gives Eye-Witness Story of Crash.

(Editor's Note: In the following article, Miss Ella Youle gives a graphic eye-witness account of the crashing of a large airplane on her 250-acre farm near Delavan, Ill.)

By MISS ELLA YOULE

(As Told to International News Service)

DELAVAN, Ill.—I was standing in the doorway of my farmhouse about 10 o'clock this morning when I heard a roaring noise which sounded like a plane but seemed louder and sharper

I walked out to the yard to watch closer I saw a great blaze in the sky. As it came closer, the roar was louder and more deafening. Lightning flashed through the sky, but it was not raining.

The next thing I knew, there was a dull thud a half mile away in my hay field The plane had crashed and was burning

I went as close as I could to see this horrible sight I saw bodies, all of them with parachutes attached, scattered around on the ground I think most all of them were men

The plane made a hole in my field about the size of an automobile It fell a half-mile northeast of the house. Bits of wreckage flew all over for many yards around.

I am quite sure the electrical storm was responsible for the tragedy. The plane had first circled around the farm amid overhanging clouds and then dropped from nowhere making a great blaze across the sky been 62 of them working on the case.

The boy's body, badly decomposed while it lay in the swamp outside Princeton probably since the night of the kidnaping, May 28, was in a funeral home at Homestead, six miles south of Princeton.

The child's uncle, W. P. Cash, said funeral plans would be announced today. Last night the uncle accompanied J. B. Cash, the baby's father, to Homestead to satisfy the law by making the official identification.

The father slipped quietly from his home in Princeton. He had steeled himself for the ordeal He approached the bier timorously. With hands on hips, shoulders tensely hunched, he kept his face turned aside and looked gradually toward the body He looked only far enough to see the white and rose colored pajamas which still clung to the body, then he quickly turned away.

"Yes," he said "That's it"

The mother remained at home, secluded.

URGES GRADS TO FOLLOW TREES

Only Those With Deep Roots Weather Storms, Capital University Head Says.

upward to the light who makes the dependable citizen.

"Only the trees that have not grown deep, solid roots are destroyed in storms, and it is the men who did not lay hold on the permanent things of life that fall by the wayside in the struggle for supremacy," he declared

Pointing to the lesson taught by trees which struggle upward through the dense forest to the sunlight, Dr. Mess added that rivalry is keen among trees as among men, "but a tree will never make it impossible for another tree to grow," he said.

"There is always room, you don't have to tear someone else s crown to wear it yourself," he advised.

He urged the class to heed the mature advise of their parents and used the example of grafting a young branch to an old tree in pointing out that youthful enthusiasm and energy plus the experience of age produce the finest product

The speaker, whose voice was carried to the audience through loudspeakers at each side of a covered platform, was introduced by W L. Miller, superintendent of schools.

Presents Sister Diploma.

For nearly a half hour the graduates filed past Harold A Bruce, board of education member who gave them their diplomas as Principal Jesse Beer read the graduates' names

Bruce's sister, Miss Martha Jane Bruce, was a member of the class.

In a brief presentation talk, Bruce said "If you have learned how to work, to think and to live, your school has been a success"

Fathers of two of the graduates participated in the ceremonies They were Rev. Paul Hollingshead, pastor of the Central Methodist church who gave the invocation, and Rev H S. Garnes, pastor of St Luke's Lutheran church, whose benediction closed the program. Rev. Hollingshead's daughter, Miss Willa Catherine Hollingshead, and Rev. Garnes' son, Herbert S Garnes, jr, were members of the huge class

Preceding Dr Mees' talk, John Gano, president of the 1938 class, gave the salutation, building his message around the theme, "The end of our first great adventure and the beginning of a new one

After seniors received their diplomas, they sang their class song, which was composed by Miss Verna DeLee Garber, one of the members

The high school orchestra played as the class members, marching in trios, and clad in gray and white caps and gowns, came from the school gymnasium to the stadium and then returned over the same line of march

MANSFIELD DOCTOR OFF TO SEE HIS 'DOUBLE' IN SALT LAKE CITY

Novels and plays are written about two people who look exactly alike, and at least once in a lifetime every person hears of someone who "looks exactly like you"

But Dr O H Schettler, Mansfield physician, is curious enough about his "double" to go to Salt Lake City to see him

Dr Schettler and Carleton Fernyak leave this afternoon for a western trip that will take them to a number of points of interest in the next four weeks Both are delegates to the Kiwanis convention in Los Angeles June 26-30, and Dr. Schettler will attend the convention of the American Medical association in the same city, which opens June 13.

Sunday, however, the Mansfielders will stop over in Salt Lake City to see a man who is reputedly the "spittin' image" of the Mansfield physician Several months ago, George Gaalaas, 101 Heineman boulevard, was in the Utah capital on business and met the man. He stared at him in surprise

'You look enough like a man in Mansfield to be his twin brother," he said The man casually inquired the name of his prototype, and when Gaalaas said 'Schettler," the man looked interested and said "That's funny — that s my name, too Q. R. Schettler"

Dr Schettler knows of no relatives in Utah, he said today. The two men also will visit with Mr. and Mrs George A Gillespie Mrs Gillespie was formerly Helen Weller, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Emerson Weller, Overlook road.

While Dr. Schettler goes on to the medical convention, Fernyak will visit Grand Canyon and Boulder Dam Later they will visit points of interest in California, stopping to visit the Carl Simons' former Mansfielders, in Oakland, and on to Portland and the Canadian Rockies before returning home

Ex-Kaiser's Kin Finds Ashland's 'Peaceful' Place

ASHLAND—"That was the first peaceful meal we have had since we came to the United States"

It was Prince Louis Ferdinand, grandson of E-Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany speaking

The prince, and his bride of a few weeks the former Grand Duchess Kyra of Russia, stopped here at the Otter hotel for dinner last night en route to Detroit Since their American honeymoon started, they have been constantly besieged by autograph and curious Americans seeking their first peek at royalty

It was at the conclusion of his dinner last evening that the prince commented to Gus Otter, hotel manager, about his "most peaceful meal" Few Ashlanders recognized the royal honeymooners until they were ready to continue on their trip

During his short stay in Ashland, Prince Ferdinand made a telephone call to Detroit where it is believed he will visit with Henry Ford.

MARRY? HOOVER STAYS SILENT

Won't Discuss Rumored Romance With Ginger Rogers' Mother.

MIAMI, Fla —(UP)— J Edgar Hoover, head of the federal bureau of investigation, refused today to say either "yes" or "no" to reports that he and Mrs Lela Rogers, mother of film star Ginger Rogers, might be married

Mrs Rogers, in New York, admitted she and the chief G-man were 'quite good friends," but replied to a question as to whether she and Hoover would be married: "That's up to him"

"I don't think my personal affairs are of interest to the public," Hoover commented here. "And that's not saying yes or no"

"Swiss Miss."

In the land of cheese and mountains Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy find the inspiration for their latest mad antics in "Swiss Miss," opening at the Madison tomorrow for three days. In the picture they are a little madder than usual. There's everything from selling mousetraps to carrying a piano across a swinging bridge that spans a chasm; there's Walter Woof King as an eccentric operatic composer, and Della Lind as his Viennese wife, and Eric Blore as the perfect man's man. The locale is a chalet in the Swiss mountains and all of these delightfully nutty persons happen to meet there, Laurel and Hardy to work out their room and board at the most menial tasks, and King to write an opera. Naturally the comedians do a bit of yodeling while in the lands of yodlers.

Awkwardness Pays.

Awkwardness pays big dividends at the box office if not in the drawing room. And when awkwardness is heightened by dignity suddenly falling apart, it becomes the kind of comedy that makes audiences howl for more. Which accounts in a measure for the success of Bert Lahr and Joan Davis, both stage and screen comedians whose stock in trade is awkwardness. In the legitimate theater Lahr built his reputation on being a tough bird in a drawing room, while Miss Davis has long been sure-fire on the vaudeville stage with her awkward feet. They are teamed in "Josette," the starring vehicle of Simone Simon, Don Ameche and Robert Young, with Tala Birell. The picture is at the Ohio through Saturday.

Stagecoach Thrills.

"Stagecoach Days," the Majestic theater attraction today and Saturday, is fairly well explained in the title It is back in the stage coach days, when a lucrative mail contract is to be decided upon the stage coach that reaches its destination first Jack Luden and Eleanor Stewart have the leading roles, and as the two heroic characters attempt to save their own mail run franchise against the ruthless tactics of rivals for the contract. The other feature is "Life Returns," the story of a scientist's search for the formula that will restore life after death.

Hopalong Cassidy.

That perennial favorite, Hopalong Cassidy, whom many small boys believe to be the greatest of all motion picture characters, is an attraction at the Ritz today and tomorrow, being shown in "Cassidy of Bar 20." Romance hits Hopy in his latest adventure, and Cupid throws him even if he doesn't tie him. Nora Lane plays the lady who wins Hopy's heart. The regular players who have become identified with the major roles are William Boyd, Russell Hayden and Frank Darien Further romance on the Ritz bill is supplied by Ann Sothern and Gene Raymond in "She's Got Everything." Victor Moore, Helen Broderick, Parkyarkarkus, Billy Gilbert and William Brisbane are in the cast.

PROBE SLAYING OF WITNESS AT HARLAN TRIAL

Investigators Told Fatal Shots Resulted From Argument Over 'Labor Trouble.'

LONDON, Ky — G-men today launched investigation into the slaying of one government witness and the reported kidnaping of another to determine whether the violence was linked with the federal court trial here of the anti-union coal conspiracy case

Both the slain man and the purported kidnap victim were under government subpoenas for the duration of the trial and technically under the protection of the federal district court.

Both were active in Harlan county union affairs.

Two Brothers Held.

Chief Deputy Sheriff C N. Nolan of Harlan county said Lester Smithers, 30, was shot to death at Gulston, Ky., and two brothers, Verlin Fee, 29, and Clyde Fee, 27, were held at Harlan in connection with the slaying

Nolan said Verlin Fee told him the shooting followed an argument "about the union" Smithers was a former president of the Yancey, Ky, local of the United Mine Workers of America

George Titler, a field representative of the U. M W. A, reported to agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation last night that three men forced John Isom, a union organizer, to drive in their automobile from Cumberland, Harlan county, Ky, to a nearby mining camp

Titler said he supplied the agents with descriptions of the men Isom said abducted him.

Titler reported the men took Isom from a restaurant and shoved him into their car after calling him a "damn union man."

Isom denied his identity and escaped when the automobile stopped at a home in the camp where the men sought to identify him, Titler recounted

Deputy Nolan said the Harlan Sheriff's office received no report of the incident

Isom testified several days ago that he lost his job with the Harlan Central company after he was called before the federal grand jury which returned the indictment against the 66 Harlan County Coay corporations coal operators and present or former peace officers now on trial here

OPERATIONS CUT

Lansing Hears 4,000 to Lose Jobs In Auto Plants.

LANSING, Mich.—(INS)—Despite denials of automobile industry leaders that production would cease during the summer months, between 3,000 and 4,000 employes of the Oldsmobile, Fisher Body and Reo plants will be laid off before July 1, it was learned today.

The report was substantiated when an emergency session of the Ingham county board of supervisors was called to meet the steadily mounting burden of unemployment relief

BIDDLE LAUNCHES MOVE TO GET NEW COURTHOUSE FOR COUNTY

A movement to obtain PWA funds for a new Richland county courthouse was under way today and the Delano lodge was expected to be the first organization to consider the proposal at a meeting Saturday

Headed by Atty George W. Biddle, who was unsuccessful in a previous campaign for an elevator in the present county building, the proposal had not reached county commissioners today, but they agreed that the idea was a good one—if the county had the money

Biddle said Delano lodge officials had consented to sumbit his proposition to their group tomorrow, and he planned to go to Canton today or Saturday to confer with Stark county commissioners who are seeking federal funds for a new courthouse

Biddle said he would carry the proposal to other Mansfield organizations if it develops there is any possibility of getting a grant and furnishing the county's share without voting a bond issue

He estimated the building would cost about $200,000 with the federal grant to provide $90,000 of that amount

"The present courthouse is outmoded, dangerous and overcrowded," Biddle said.

DENIES PRE-MIX PLAN WOULD CUT DOWN WPA JOBS

Kallmerten and Baer Official Says He Seeks Only to Put More to Work.

R. O. Davies, general manager of the firm of Kallmerten and Baer, denied today that the company's proposal that the city use "pre-mixed' concrete on WPA sidewalk projects would throw WPA employes out of work and asserted that it would provide more employment

City officials commenting on the proposal of Kallmerten and Baer, had said that it would cause the lay-off of 50 WPA workers.

Davies, general manager of the firm of Kallmerten and Baer, of which E B Kallmerten county Democratic chairman is president, said today that his proposal would not affect present sidewalk work on which concrete is being mixed on the job He said he had offered the services of one of his employes to act as a solicitor for sidewalk jobs and proposed to use pre-mixed concrete only on jobs the second solicitor obtained

Explains His Plan

"The city now has only one man getting property owners to approve the laying of new walks," Davies said, "I offered to put one of our own men to work as a solicitor proposing that payment be made to the city as on jobs already underway I wanted to use pre-mixed concrete on any new jobs that might be obtained but never suggested that pre-mixed concrete be used on any of the present projects

"If my plan succeeded in getting any new sidewalk work started, it would put more WPA men to work, instead of laying them off," Davies said

Davies also denied that his firm was the only one in the city manufacturing pre-mixed concrete He said two other firms were able to make it. His firm, however, has the contract with the city, to furnish the concrete being used on existing sidewalk work, which is being mixed on the job

Commenting on Davies' proposal, Mayor C. M Hunter said today that city officials were unable to see how they could avoid laying off workers if they adopted the plan He said the present solicitor, Tod Patton, was able to obtain only enough new work to keep present crews busy Davies contended that another solicitor could get more jobs lined up and therefore would create work for more men, even though the concrete was not mixed on the jobs

He asserted he did not seek to eliminate any WPA jobs, but was seeking to keep his own employes busy.

A Farmer's Diary

By Calvin A. Byers

I SHALL never forget the first June wedding I ever attended It was held at a country farmhouse, at 8 p. m Groups of merry rural folks stood about the lawn, talking. The air was full of sweet spring odors, flowers were in bloom — from the barnyard came the contented grunt of the bridegroom's pet, a Chester White pig.

The bridegroom, himself, dressed in a black broadcloth suit, with a bouquet of flowers on his coat, stood nervously chatting with his friends. His hair was smooth and oily, his shoes polished like a mirror A carriage drove up, and he assisted the bride and her parents to alight.

The bride's mother carefully lifted a large white cake, wrapped in loose, soft paper, and set it for a moment on the well curb In the pleasant excitement, she forgot it.

Along came the pet pig, round and fat and hungry. With a lusty sniff it sank its round, moist nose, even above the eyes, into the soft, fluffy cake

The bridegroom got excited. He grabbed a broom and gave chase The pig knew well the cool shelter of his wallow, and headed for it with loud squeals, the broom stick whacking his broad back and hitting the ground, alternately. The wielder of the stick — so absorbed that he forgot the mire and plunged into it above his ankles.

His new black suit held great drops of mud, the bouquet on his coat were all awry, his shoes were a mass of yellow clay

The wedding was postponed for a later hour. From somewhere they produced another hastily made cake.

It was a fine wedding. I have never gone to another like it.

$1,500,000 Ohio Relief 'Stop-Gap' Goes Into Effect

12 MILLIONS MORE NEEDED TO END CRISIS

Bulkley Tells Assembly U. S. Direct Relief Fund Only for Disaster Emergency.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS — The $1,500,000 stop-gap relief loan bill went into effect today carrying Governor Martin L. Davey's signature as new warnings were given that the legislature should not expect any federal funds for Ohio for direct relief for the rest of the year.

The $1,500,000 bill was the first major piece of relief legislation enacted by the general assembly in a month's time and with estimates that approximately $12,000,000 more will be needed, left the main problem still unsolved.

Senator Robert J. Bulkley, in Columbus to file nominating petitions to succeed himself, said the $125,000,000 earmarked in the federal lending-spending program for direct relief would be used only for disaster emergency needs.

Basis For Stall.

Admittedly legislative leaders have been stalling to determine whether the problem might be solved by federal allocations ever since the so-called "agreed" program in the legislature collapsed.

If receipt of federal money finally is proven to be out of the question, efforts will be renewed next week to draft a compromise program financed by state revenues. Speaker Frank Uible's unofficial Democratic house relief committee will resume deliberations and the senate may hold a joint caucus on relief.

Both houses will reconvene Tuesday.

The stop-gay bill appropriates $1.500,000 from 1939 sales tax revenues, and delegates authority to the state control board with permission of the tax commission to allow applying counties to issue notes in anticipation of their share of the amount, the loans to be repaid by withholding sales tax allocations next year. Loans will be made on the basis of need.

In addition to signing this bill the governor approved the Banks-McCluskey bill granting subdivisions permission to use excess inheritance tax collections for relief purposes.

Movie Houses Hit 'Weak Pictures,' Threaten to Close

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Operators of neighborhood movie houses here threatened today to close their theaters several days each week as a protest against what they termed "weak pictures."

The Cleveland Motion Picture Exhibitors' association instructed Secretary George W. Erdmann yesterday to draw up a resolution setting forth the group's grievances.

Erdmann said 98 per cent of the association membership was represented at the meeting and agreed unanimously to keep their theaters dark "three or four days" weekly unless Hollywood's products are improved.

"Signatures will be a matter of less than a week," Erdmann said. "This will affect 80 theaters.

"Business is away off and the class of production coming through right now is not encouraging enough to warrant a continued full-week business. Our members have little choice except to close up until Hollywood comes to our aid with better pictures."

Up and Down THE STREET

Mansfield followers of the Cleveland Indians were disappointed today. The Indians opened a "crucial" series with the Yankees in New York today and as no play-by-play descriptions are permitted to be sent from the stadium for broadcasting purposes, the Cleveland rooters hereabouts who have been receiving their results from a Cleveland station were at a loss to know how to follow their favorites. In view of the New York ban, their only chance to get the results was from the inning-by-inning reports via downtown tickers.

It's difficult to tell whether Kiwanians are complimenting their wives or are just tired of doing their club work. Anyway, they have "graciously" consented to let several of the wives take care of their luncheon program at their last meeting in June. E. O. Townsend, chairman of the program committee, says it's because the women did such an excellent job once before when they were entrusted with the program. The wives who have been thus commissioned are Mrs. Townsend, Mrs. C. H. Huston, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. V. H. Lodde, Mrs. John Pierce, Mrs. William Switzer, and Mrs. L. S. Houk.

A number of Mansfiled dial twisters have been trying for the last two Friday evenings to connect with the WHKC program, believing that the trio of Mansfield girls was still on the air that night. But their time has been changed and their program may now be heard at 8 p. m. on Tuesdays from the Columbus station. Next Tuesday, they—Jane Weuthrich, Ruth Cox and Dorothy Clingan—will go to town on a harmonizing arrangement of "Dipsy Doodle." Their program also lists "Wanted," "It's Wonderful" and "Love Me or Leave Me." Genevieve Howell, their accompanist, is scheduled to play "Reflections in the Water."

It would be interesting to know how many times in 21 years it has rained on the night that the Johns Park association gives its annual strawberry festival. Oldsters in the association say that their Big Night has seldom been ruined by the weather. The festival, which is to be held this evening at the park, is one of the two money-making projects that the association puts over each year as a means of improving their recreational center. The other is the watermelon festival, staged in mid-summer. This evening—the weather permitting—there will be a ball game at 6 o'clock at the park. Attendance at the affairs in the past ranged from 1,500 to 3,000.

SEEKS PAY HIKE FOR TROOPERS

Davey Proposes Wage Boost, Addition of 100 Men to Put 8-Hour Day in Effect.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—Steps to improve the lot of Ohio's 200 highway patrolmen were initiated today by Governor Davey who in an address at the fifth annual patrol inspection declared the members have "done much to develop respect for government and law."

The legislature will be asked at the current special session to increase the patrol personnel by approximately 100 men so the present 12-hour work day can be reduced, probably to eight hours, Davey said.

An amendment to the patrol law will be offered, he added, to increase the minimum monthly wage of patrolmen from $100 to $110 and to pay the men themselves, instead of to boarding house keepers as at present, the $45 per month allowed for each patrolman's maintenance.

Col. Lynn Black, patrol superintendent, explained that readjustment of the maintenance factor would necessitate no increased expenditures. The money would simply be transferred to the patrolmen from the boarding house keepers, who are paid the full amount by the state now whether or not the men are present for all meals.

This adjustment, the governor declared, would benefit especially the married men who could apply the $45 a month for maintenance on their own homes if they live near their station.

141 SCOUTS TO GET AWARDS AT AREA HONOR COURT IN ASHLAND

One Boy Scout will be advanced to the rank of Eagle, highest rank in scouting, and 140 other scouts will receive advancement and merit badge awards at an area court of honor tonight at the Ashland county fairgrounds in conjunction with the fourth annual scout circuis and camporall.

Thirty-four youths will receive the rank of Second class scout, nine will become First class scouts, 12 will become Life and Star scouts, two will receive the bronze Eagle palm, and merit badges will be awarded to 70 others.

Announcement of the winners of the Hillier trophy and President's cup will be made. The Hillier trophy goes to the troop showing the most advancements during the year, and the President's cup will go to the troop adding the most new members. J. Leo Hartman, Mansfield, chairman of the court of honor, will preside.

The circus is scheduled to begin at 8 p. m., and will be staged by some 600 scouts of the Johnny Appleseed area from Richland, Ashland and Crawford counties.

The circus program will include the grand entry, a color ceremony, wall scaling, scout games, first aid demonstrations, a clown act, signaling demonstrations, knot tying and pioneering. Music will be furnished by the Ashland high school band directed by Louis E. Pete.

Scouts attending the circus and camporall will camp at the Fairgrounds tonight and take part in the camporall competition in various scouting events Saturday morning. The scouts will break camp at noon Saturday.

The circus will be staged under the direction of a committee of area scoutmasters headed by George H. Smith, Mansfield, chairman.

DENIES DUKE PLANS U. S. TRIP

London Paper Says Windsors Intend to Stay on Riviera.

LONDON—(INS)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor have made no new plans to visit the United States, the "Londoner's Diary" of the Evening Standard, which has close contacts with the ex-king, said today.

The Duke told a friend only two days ago that he had no plans beyond getting into his new house on the French Riviera and settling down.

That he intended to go to America next spring was emphatically denied by the "Diary."

HOUSE PASSAGE OF MUSKINGUM PLAN ASSURED

Secrist Says Leaders Agree to Amendment Lifting Levy in 16 Ohio Counties.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—House approval of a provision in the Whittington-Copeland $375,000,000 flood control bill remitting $4,500,000 of the local assessments in the Muskingum, Ohio, conservancy district was assured today.

Rep. Secrest (D) of Ohio, said that leaders on the house flood control committee have agreed to accept the amendment when the bill is sent to conference before final passage by congress.

The amendment was accepted by the senate after Secrest presented it to the commerce committee, which included the provision in the bill. It was based upon a policy adopted by the house when it first passed the flood control bill of requiring the federal government to pay the cost of reservoirs and 70 per cent of the local contributions for relocation of highways, rights-of-way and similar expenses.

Helps 10,000.

"The members of the house committee who will be conferees have told me that they will accept the amendment," said Secrest. "It will mean a 70 per cent tax reduction for 10,000 property owners in 16 Ohio counties which were assessed part of the Muskingum conservancy district cost.

"I began work on the proposal four years ago, because I saw that we could have no national flood control policy based on reservoirs unless the federal government would assume a greater burden of the cost than was provided by law. In the recent bill, the house flood control committee established the new national policy and senate acceptance of the amendment followed."

Whether property owners in the Miami conservancy district, built entirely of local funds 24 years ago, will now be successful in obtaining a refund from the federal government was uncertain.

SUBMITS PLAN

C. of C. Committee to See Mayor on Relief Problem.

The Chamber of Commerce committee on taxation and public finance, headed by A. E. Courtney, today was to meet with city officials to discuss a plan of financing poor relief in Mansfield.

The plan, which Courtney said could be worked out pending the ruling of Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston on the city's petition seeking to transfer $50,000 from the sinking fund to the relief fund, was to be laid before Mayor Claude M. Hunter today.

Courtney said the plan, which he declined to reveal, was developed at a meeting of the committee last night to study the proposed 2-mill levy which will be submitted to the voters at the August primaries.

He explained that the plan called for further study, by the committee into the relief situation and the fiscal status of the municipality before making any recommendations to the chamber board of directors.

2 WIN AWARDS

ASHLAND—Mike Rusyniak of Nova and Harold Schad of Nankin were announced as two of the winners in the farmers' institute poster contests sponsored by the Ohio State university recently.

Rusyniak's poster, which competed against the posters of other high school students was rated ninth, while Schad's poster, which competed among those of the upper grade, was placed in the bracket of prize winners.

Girl Fond of Man Who Makes Passes

By VIRGINIA LEE

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am a girl 21 years old. I fell in love with a man who didn't know I existed until the other day. As he passes my house every day, he finally stopped to talk to me. He asked me for a date, but I refused the first time. Then he asked me again and I accepted.

"We went riding and I found out he was the 'pawing' type, so I asked to be taken home. I still secretly care for him so should I submit to his advances if he dates me again? V. I."

Don't be a dumbbell, my dear girl. The fact that he attracts you should be all the more reason why you should refuse to allow any familiarities. If you girls only would absolutely refuse dates to the men who have this so-called "pawing" habit, it would do much to discourage it.

Don't cheapen yourself in your own or his eyes. Be a fine, self-respecting girl even if you lose the friendship of this youth. You'll never be sorry while you will be be a very unhappy girl if you allow such liberties. Expect a man who takes you out to treat you as well as he would want other men to treat his sister. That is a safe rule.

I should think you would be so disappointed in this man that your budding love for him would be blighted.

A FRIEND: Does your father object to his girl having dates? After all at 20 you should be having boy friends. Have you told him about this boy with whom you went secretly? If not do so, as no good ever comes of deception. He will be hurt by the fact that you kept the matter from him more than by the knowledge that you had a boy friend.

You can write to the boy after you have told your dad all about the matter, and tell him that he now is free to come to the house to meet your father. If he doesn't come, you will know that was not the reason he has stayed away. Honorable boys do not want to go with girls on the sly if they can help it.

My Neighbor Says:

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

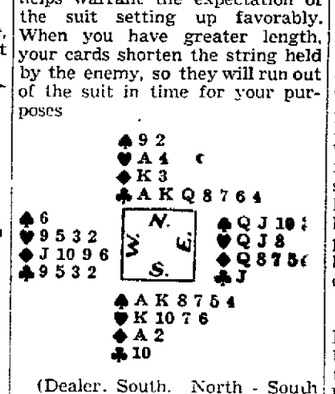
"The Authority on Authorities"

SHORTENING THE FOE

Possession of a few cards in your partner's suit can be of great value, even if that suit does not become the trump. They afford opportunities to make leads to finesses, for one thing. But an even more important consideration is the fact that your holding them helps warrant the expectation of the suit setting up favorably. When you have greater length, your cards shorten the string held by the enemy, so they will run out of the suit in time for your purposes



(Dealer. South. North - South vulnerable.)

To North's amazement when he picked up his hand, the opening bid was made by his partner in the South position. South's bid was 1-Spade and North's response 3-Clubs. After 3-Spades by South, North jumped to 5-Clubs. Five-No Trump was South's bid, 6-Spades by North and 7-No Trump by South. East doubled this.

West decided on the diamond J for his opening lead, which South won with the A. The play of the hand seemed extremely simple to declarer with seven tricks in clubs and two in each of the other suits. He led the club 10 to the A and when East played the J, declarer realized how important one more small club in his own hand would have been. With that he could have finessed the next round and picked up West's 9. As it was, he had to be content with the loss of one trick, in spades.

When you find a slimy, mucilage-like substance around the base of a clump of iris leaves, open the leaves back and you will usually find a pinkish gray cutworm-like borer. Take him out and step on him.

Colors In Clothes, Make-up

By JULIET SHELBY

(Central Press Writer on Beauty)

THE CORRECT makeup and the right colors in clothes are most important for the white-haired woman. If you have lovely white hair, and wear the proper colors in both makeup and dress, you can be your most beautiful and distinguished self.

If you have white hair and a vivid complexion you should wear: Clear gray, dark gray, clear light gray, midnight blue, dark purplish blue, medium violet, pale bluish violet, turquoise blue, French blue, medium greenish blue, deep clear blue, medium gray blue and pansy. Your powder should be natural, your rouge and lipstick red coral. Choose your eye shadow to match the color of your eyes. Blue eyes, blue iridescent eye shadow and blue-green or brown mascara. Hazel eyes, blue-green eyeshadow, black or blue-green mascara. Brown eyes, blue-green eyeshadow, black mascara Green eyes, green eyeshadow and blue-green mascara. Here are the colors you should avoid: Pure green, red, brown, russet, pink, rose, all pale shades that would accentuate your complexion ruddiness, and all muddy colors that would retract from the blue white of your hair.

Colors to Avoid.

If you have gray or white hair and an average complexion you have a wide choice in colors. You may be either prematurely gray or you may have gotten white hair with maturity. But with no complexion faults to worry about, you have a greater selection than your ruddy or pale friends. The colors for you are: Black, dark bluish gray, maroon, warm, dark gray dark violet blue, orchid, powder blue, medium green, peach, clear medium blue, Chinese red, clear dark green, light pinkish purple, grayish pastel blue, lavender, jade, warm apricot and turquoise.

Because of your hair you should avoid: Brown, yellow, taupe and the muddy colors which do not bring out the lights in your hair.

Your makeup is: Natural powder, Chinese red rouge and lipstick. You, too, should pick your eye shadow and mascara to match the color of your eyes.

If you have white hair and a pale or fair complexion you should wear: Pale gray-green, burgundy, dark reddish purple, brick, almond green, black, pale turquoise (if your skin is not sallow), tea rose yellow, peach, cosmos, clear light gray, peach, aquamarine, light brick, orchid, medium gray green, fuchsia, almond green and powder blue. You should avoid: Dark green, red, russet, yellow, violet, orange, strong blue, and all vivid shades that are too violent for your personality. Also shun the muddy colors that quarrel with your hair. If your complexion is clear you should use natural powder. If you are inclined to be sallow use a powder that has an apricot undertone. Red coral rouge and lipstick will be best for you, and again you pick your eye shadow and mascara according to the color of your eyes.

Tomorrow's Problem.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

For the fraction of a second after Dicky's question as to just what I had seen on the paper Junior had discovered by accident among his drawings, I dallied with the temptation to tell him that I, too, had seen only a jumble of figures meaningless to me. Then I put it behind me, and resolved to tell him the exact truth.

"I saw a column of figures," I began slowly, "running like this: 'Cash in bank. Can get on life insurance. Can borrow. Can get advances on work.'"

I named the sums after each item, then named the total and even gave him the comment, "Not enough," and the imprecation which I had involuntarily read before my startled eyes had wrested themselves from the paper.

"That is everything I saw," I said when I had finished, and Dicky gave a short laugh.

"I should think it would be enough to give any loving spouse the jitters," he said, and I smiled at him, although I felt anything but mirthful.

Promises to Explain.

"It was," I said demurely, and he laughed again.

"But do you know, after all, it doesn't amount to anything," he said, "even although I admit it does look as if I contemplated a flight to the Orient after murdering somebody. I'll explain it all to you in words of one syllable."

I stiffened warily, and hoped that Dicky did not notice my sudden rigor. But there was something about his promise which did not ring true. I was sure that he was sparring for time in the endeavor to give me a plausible explanation.

"It's this way," he began at last. "A few months ago I had a most marvelous opportunity to cash in on a financial opportunity, gilt-edged, and urged upon me by no less a person than 'X'."

The name he mentioned where I use "X," was that of a finance writer who was counted a wizard and who had made himself independently wealthy from the stock market.

"You know I've always shied away from that sort of thing," he swept on, "and I know how you and Dad feel about it, but this was so tremendous a thing, meaning the end of financial worry for us evermore, that I was bitten hard by the bug. I spent all my waking hours and a lot that belonged to sleep in figuring all the possible sources of income I could dig up. I wouldn't come to you or Dad or Lil, but nobody else in the universe that had anything was barred. I meant to let them in on the ground floor.

"But in spite of it all," he went on, "I couldn't get together enough to swing it. What you saw represented my final figuring, and my throwing up of the sponge. But I'm glad since, I didn't. It would have been an awful headache, win or lose. I'm well out of it."

He had talked smoothly, loquaciously, but I sensed that his eyes were furtively watching my reaction to his story. And for the life of me I could not speak for a second. I was as sure as if I had heard him acknowledge the falsehood of what he had been saying, that the story he had just told me was in no sense the real one, but an ingenious fabrication concocted with the wholly laudable intention of easing my fears.

Reassures Him.

"Well!" he said at last. "That's the explanation. Very simple one, not at all alarming, is it?"

From somewhere I pumped up the courage to answer him reassuringly.

"Not in the least," I told him. "I'll admit I was a bit worried, for, naturally, I couldn't understand it, but you have explained everything so clearly that I shan't worry any more."

"That's my own girl!" he said, and kissed me tenderly. Then he drew me toward the door.

"Let's go and see Faith," he said, "before I take the boys on again."

"Can you spare five minutes first?" I asked.

"Of course," he answered, staring at me. "But what can be more important than seeing our baby?"

"I have to talk to you about Hank," I replied, conscious that my voice was troubled.

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, June 11.

A rather difficult and unsatisfactory day may be looked for, judging by certain planets. Deceptive and undermining influences prevail, with dangers of loss, vexation and disappointment in both business and personal affiliations. Loans are inadvisable and investments hazardous Be careful with writings, law and documents, also short journeys and youthful indiscretions.

Those whose birthday it is may not have a particularly progressive year, as treacherous and hazardous conditions prevail, calling for much sagacity, watchfulness and discretion in both personal and business affairs. Lost legal papers may complicate matters. Loans and investments are perilous.

A child born on this day may be versatile, quick in thought and action, fond of travel, new situations and change. It may drift into some calling where these traits and its volubility may count for success.

Shopping time can be cut by one-third by buying foods in larger quantities and storing in a mechanical refrigerator.

Household Hints

Menu Hint.

Tomato Juice
Sausages on Pineapple Rings
Parsley Potatoes Greens
Lettuce and Watercress
Prune Delight Coffee

The sausage and pineapple recipe, also the prune delight, are taken from Good Housekeeping and are tested in its institute.

Today's Recipes.

SAUSAGES ON PINEAPPLE RINGS — Twelve link sausages, eight canned pineapple slices. Saute the sausages in a hot skillet until golden brown and done. Drain on absorbent paper, then keep warm on hot platter. Pour off all but a little of the sausage fat; then saute the pineapple slices in remaining fat until golden brown on both sides. Serve sausages on pineapple rings. Serves four.

PRUNE DELIGHT — Sixteen large prunes, packaged sponge cake, cream. Cover the prunes with cold water, and bring to a boil. Simmer for one-half hour, then boil for ten minutes. If sweeter prunes are desired, add two tablespoons granulated sugar during last five minutes. Chill; then pit the prunes by making a slit in each and removing the pit. Arrange three or four prunes with some of the prune juice on each sponge cake slice. Serve with cream. Serves four.

Plant lice or aphids are found on almost any vegetable and once established, spread rapidly. Instead of laying eggs they give birth to living young—about 20 a week. Aphids are checked best by spraying with a 40 per cent nicotine sulphate, 1½ teaspoons to each gallon of water in which a tablespoon of good soap has been disolved. Derris and pyrethrum extract spray will also control them.

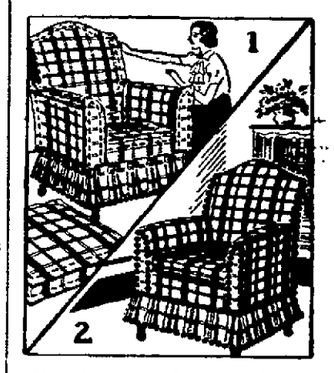
Gay, New Slip Covers Add, Life Smartness.



New-furniture fever—and your pocketbook's flat? Let slip covers come to the rescue.

Look at this useful little chair. Decked out in a smart biege and brown plaid trimmed with emerald green ball fringe, it's set for a star role in your living-room.

Covered in plain powder blue with seams bound in dusty rose or apricot, it's equally charming in your best bedroom.

For beginner's luck with slip covers, fit them the practical pin-on way. Pin material to the chair wrong side up before cutting, allowing 4 inches for tuck-in between seat and inside back, 1½ inches for seams.

Baste entire cover together for final fitting, see sketch 1. Before pleating flounce, add ball fringe to lower edge.

Finish seams with ball fringe, see sketch 2. Insert fringe into the seams, stitch into place from the wrong side.

Follow clear step-by-step directions and diagrams in our 32-page booklet to make all kinds of chair and sofa covers.
